Men Restrained From Gossiping About Spouses

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—James Wells and Frank Noel cannot gossip about their respective wives. Neither can they gossip with them.

An injunction restraining the men from either talking about or with their wives was issued here by Superior Judge Peter J. Shields.

Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Noel are suing their respective husbands for divorce and complained to Judge Shields that their spouses were trying to browbeat them out of court.

LONG SIEGE IS CITY BAND TO ANTICIPATED BY COAL STRIKERS IN BIRCH PARK

(By United Press)

LONDON, July 27.—England's miners, facing the prospect of a lockout July 31, are today in desperate mood.

Their union, the most belligerent of any of the English group, is figuratively tightening its belt and girding itself for the most bitter fight in its long history.

The miners hold that their defense measures involve two or three months of suffering for them and their families, whereas they argue that acceptance of the owners' terms would mean embarking upon an indeterminate period of semi-starvation, accompanied by back-breaking toil in pits shut off from the sunlight.

District officials of the mine union were doing their utmost today to arrange grocery store credits to help tide miners' families over the prospective period of idleness.

Meantime throughout south Wales and other mining regions, where big families are the rule rather than the exception, housewives, as thrifty as their shillings will permit, were seeking to hoard some food against a "rainy day."

A. J. Cook, miners' leader, estimated one million working miners or auxiliaries must be fed, together with four million dependents.

A program of unusual merit will be given tomorrow night in Birch park by the Santa Ana municipal band. Director Cianfoni announced today that the concert will be in honor of the Community Players.

No vocal soloists will appear on the concert program but several feature numbers will be presented. "The Chimes of Normandy," famous comic opera by the French composer, Planquette, will be played by the band for the first time in Santa Ana. Another number, which will attract many music lovers, will be "Prelude in C Minor," by Rachmaninoff. The artistic symphony orchestra plays this selection in a similar rendition of the number by the band. The Grand Selection, from "Carmen," played over radio KHL by the band Saturday night, will be played again for the benefit of those who want to "see" it done.

The numbers will be given in the following order:

March, The Winner, Cianfoni; overture, Zampa, Herold; selection, The Chimes of Normandy, Planquette; trio, Attila, (cornet, trombone, baritone), Verdi; Prelude in C Minor, Rachmaninoff; concert waltz, Wedding of the Winds, John Hall; grand selection, Carmen, Bizet; March, By Request, The Shriners, Cianfoni.

WILL BURY BRYAN IN ARLINGTON

know who came running. "His lawyer friends went into his room and came out solemn-faced. One cried a little. We called a doctor, but he could not do anything but tell us something we already knew—that Mr. Bryan was dead."

The physician gently drew the sheet over the Commoner's face and attended Mrs. Bryan, who was fighting against a collapse. She reclined on a bed in the adjoining room and lay sobbing faintly while preliminary arrangements were made for disposition of her husband's body.

DEATH NEWS SPREADS

News of the death spread rapidly. Dayton loved Bryan and the death report was a stunning blow to the city and its citizens. Many refused to believe and hastened to the residence where the Commoner lay. Soon a solemn gathering of townsfolk, who recently had cheered him in his prosecution of John T. Scopes, assembled. All stood respectfully bareheaded, some tearfully, trying to realize the news that seemed almost unbelievable.

Because everyone, including himself, believed he had passed through the strenuous days of the evolution trial without suffering the least detriment to his health, Bryan's death came as a tremendous shock.

Only a few hours before, he talked with friends of the big battle ahead in connection with the Scopes case. Friends suggested a brief vacation before continuing the fight but, enthusiastic over his recent victory in obtaining the conviction of Scopes, Bryan refused to rest.

DIES OF HEART TROUBLE

That Bryan died of heart trouble instead of apoplexy was the belief expressed by Dr. Raymond Wallace, Chattanooga physician, who made an examination of Bryan last Friday. His examination revealed, according to Dr. Wallace, a light dilation of the heart, with missed beats. Blood pressure was normal, although the pupils showed a slight swelling, which the physicians attributed to a faulty heart action. Dr. Wallace said he advised rest and change of diet, but that same day Bryan went to Jasper and made a speech, followed by another at Winchester Saturday.

At the time of his death, one of Bryan's chief ambitions was for the erection of the proposed Bryan university at Dayton. He had planned to confer today with the promoters of the proposed college, with the idea of arranging a financial program. After the conference, he was to have addressed a mass meeting at the Dayton courthouse—Dayton's final demonstration in his honor before he left. Just a few hours before he died, the Commoner had been the center of interest at the Southern Methodist church, where he led the congregation. Later he conferred with Wesley S. Hicks, choir director, on the music for the sermon on "What Shall I Do With Jesus," which was to have been delivered last night. Bryan asked that two hymns be sung. "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go." Following the services, practically every member of the audience shook hands with him.

LEAVES THREE CHILDREN

Bryan's three children, William Jennings Bryan Jr., of Los Angeles; Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owens, of Mount Vernon, O., and Mrs. Richard L. Hargreaves, of Hollywood, Calif., are all on their way to Dayton. They are expected to arrive Tuesday.

H. E. and Sue Hicks, Wallace E. Haggard and Judge McKenzie, attorneys who fought side by side with Bryan during the Scopes trial, kept an all-night vigil over the body of their dead colleague.

White will be the mourning color which will be observed by relatives, it was announced.

Mrs. Bryan telegraphed Ben G. Davis, an intimate friend of the Commoner at Washington, and asked him to make plans for the burial of Bryan at Arlington.

Bryan is entitled to a military burial at the national cemetery because of his services during the Spanish-American war, when he raised a regiment of volunteers and served as its colonel. Dayton today mourned the loss of the "foremost citizen of the world." Mayor A. P. Haggard issued a proclamation calling upon

Woman Is Hurt When Hit By Car

Miss Mary L. Miller, Garden Grove, was cut and bruised about the head and body, when she was run down by an automobile driven by Mrs. F. M. Allen, 465 Holt street, Pomona, three-quarters of a mile west of Garden Grove on the Garden Grove boulevard, late Saturday.

A report of the accident was filed yesterday by Mrs. Allen at the sheriff's office.

The injured woman was taken to the E. E. Violette hospital, Garden Grove, where it was said that her injuries were not serious.

According to the report filed by Mrs. Allen, Miss Miller walked from behind a car parked at the side of the road and proceeded directly in front of the approaching Allen car.

Liquor Charges Are Dismissed

Cases against George and Stella Stahl, Seal Beach residents, charged with the possession of intoxicating liquor, were dismissed in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today, on motion of the district attorney. Both were arrested by Chief Criminal Deputy Ed McCallan several months ago, when a raid was conducted on their home. A small amount of alleged liquor was said to have been found in a wash basin.

Pomona Man Held To Superior Court

Peter Crist, former Santa Ana man, now a resident of Pomona, was bound over to the superior court, on a charge of embezzlement, following an examining trial in Justice K. E. Morrison's court early today.

Crist is charged with converting approximately $675 worth of tables and chairs to his own use. A cash register also figures in the alleged transaction.

Crist is free on $500 cash bail, made several days ago by Pomona friends.

Injured Woman Is Reported Better

The condition of Mrs. A. B. Merrihew, South Pasadena woman, who was critically hurt early Saturday morning when the car in which she was riding with Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith, also of South Pasadena, overturned on the San Diego highway, near Gallivan, was considered improved today. Mrs. Merrihew is confined in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, suffering from internal injuries. Her condition is still regarded as critical, nurses said.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

The mayor's proclamation read: "To the People of the City of Dayton, Tenn.:

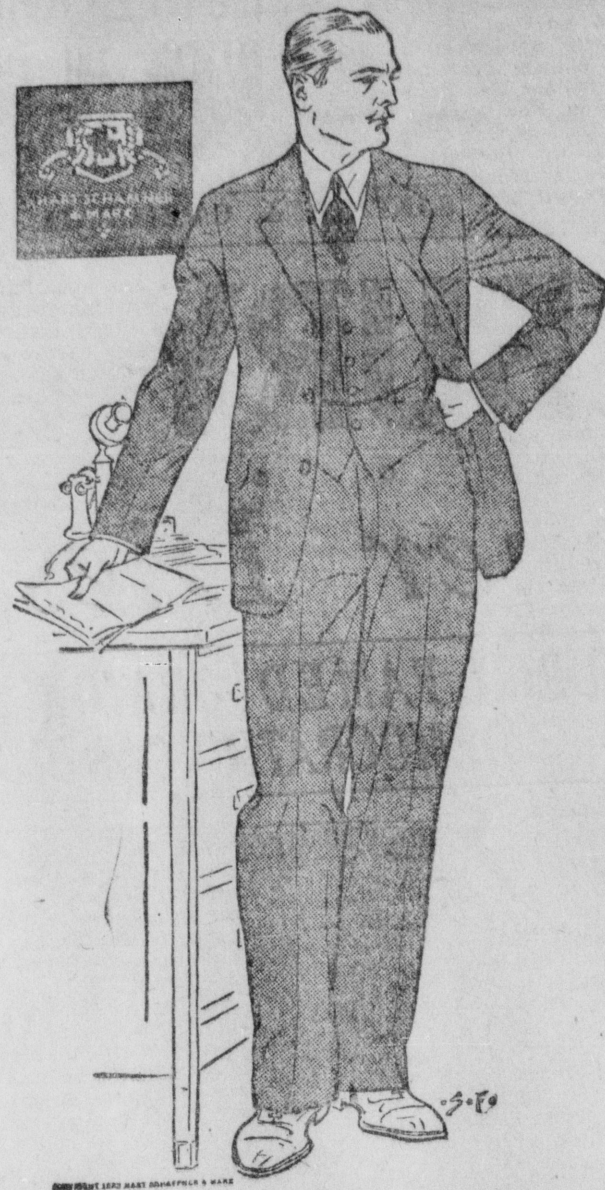

"The Honorable William Jennings Bryan, the foremost citizen of the world, has fallen while the honored guest of our city. Dayton has never before been so honored as by his 20 days' sojourn in our midst. He fell while in the line of duty in the cause dearest to his heart in all his honorable and notable career.

"All Dayton mourns his untimely death and as an expression of supreme respect and honor for him, I, A. P. Haggard, chairman of the board of commerce for the city of Dayton, do hereby declare Monday, July 27, a holiday and hereby call on all the people of Dayton to close all places of business, display their flags at half-mast and refrain from all avocations as a token of our sorrow for his untimely death."

Mrs. Bryan today was bearing up well.

"I am glad he died in peace and without suffering," Mrs. Bryan said.

The body will lie in state at the courthouses where Bryan vigorously championed the teachings of the Bible in the evolution trial and the simple folks of the Tennessee Mountains who cheered and acclaimed him at every point.

LEGION TO AID VETS APPLYING FOR INSURANCE

For the purpose of aiding former service men in securing their adjusted compensation, the American Legion hall will be open each Monday night in the future, it was announced today by William Getty, commander of the Santa Ana organization.

"There are scores of former service men in the county who have not yet made application for the compensation and we will be in the hall every Monday night to aid them in making application," Getty said today.

Getty pointed out the fact that relatives of deceased ex-service men could not secure more than a rate of $1 for home service and $125 for overseas service, and said that if the deceased had received his compensation papers, that this amount would be more than doubled.

Getty declared that several in Orange county, who had died during the last year without having had their compensation papers filed, lost large amounts of money in insurance, leaving their dependants only the base rate and not the insurance policy value.

HUGE LUMBER DEAL BROUGHT TO CLOSE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Purchase of the Pope and Talbot lumber interests, in the state of Washington, by the Charles R. McCormick Lumber company, a $20,000,000 deal, was announced here.

The purchase includes about 80,000 acres of timber land, together with the sawmill plant of the Pope and Talbot company, one at Port Gamble, the other at Port Ludlow. Cargo shipping facilities, rail connections with transcontinental lines, hotels and other property go into the deal.

A new sawmill plant at Port Gamble, involving expenditures of approximately a million and a half dollars, will result from the deal, the McCormick company announced. The McCormicks recently consolidated and absorbed McCormick interests at St. Helens, Ore.; Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino and San Francisco, bringing eight companies into one.

Estimated annual production under the purchase just made will be 250,000,000 board feet of lumber.

The Pope and Talbot interests, which date back to 1853, with establishment of a Port Gamble sawmill by Capt. W. Talbot, became part of the McCormick company through the transaction.

Love, In Speedy Auto, Wins Race For Marital Joy

Love wins! The race Glenn Ward Waterbury, Long Beach bank clerk, made with his bride-to-be Saturday afternoon, to reach his father, R. R. Waterbury, to get his consent to the marriage before he sailed for the east, was won by a mump, and today the young couple were man and wife, with the father's blessing.

The girl in the case was Etty Isabel Longworth, 1200 Ohio street, Long Beach.

The girl was of legal age but the young man was just turned 20.

When they applied for the license it was 12:28 o'clock. The license bureau was to close at noon.

The father's consent to the marriage was missing.

The young couple was frantic. Young Waterbury bit his nails and decided on a last-chance plan to get his father's approval of the nuptials.

If he raced to Wilmington and got his father's consent before the latter sailed for foreign ports, the race would be won. At 2 o'clock, would County Clerk J. M. Backs grant him a license after the bureau was closed?

The affable Backs, realizing the predicament, said he would make a special order of business for young Waterbury and pretty Miss Longworth. If they were successful in their race he would do his part.

They started. Came 3 o'clock, when the young couple was expected back.

No couple. Backs locked up the clerk's office and went home.

Seven o'clock came. The telephone at the Backs residence rang.

Young Waterbury was on the line. He had the consent of his father.

Backs hurried to the office to issue the license. The Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, was descended upon to tie the knot.

Today a steamer was plowing the lanes along the lower California coast.

A father was on that boat. He chuckled at the pluck of his son. And somewhere in Southern California were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ward Waterbury, enjoying their honeymoon.

Love wins!

Fined $300 On Liquor Charge

Mike Maxwell, 19, 129 West Eighteenth street, arrested Saturday night by Sid Smithwick, assistant chief of police, on a possession of liquor charge, pleaded guilty in Judge J. P. Talbot's court early today, and was fined $300.

Police are alleged to have found a full case of gin in Maxwell's car, which was parked in an alley in the 300 block on South Birch street.

Paul Holt, 18, Orange youth, who was with Maxwell at the time officers raided his automobile, was released today, when Maxwell took the blame for the liquor being found in the machine.

MAN WITH BOOZE

DRAWS $150 FINE

Charged with illicit possession of intoxicating liquor, H. J. Jenkins, Pasadena, was fined $150 in Justice William Morrison's court at Seal Beach today, following his arrest in the beach city Saturday night by deputies from the sheriff's office, in Santa Ana, who went to Seal Beach as a raiding party.

The case known as Captain's Inn was raided by the officers, but no arrests were made there, it was stated today. Chief Criminal Deputy Criminal Deputy Ed McClellan said that, when officers walked into the cafe, almost a score of bottles, some filled with liquor were thrown to the floor, and it was possible to tell which persons were the "possessors" of the liquor.

The place was filled with merry-makers at the time of the raid, and, according to reports, presence of the officers had little effect on the festivities.

Jenkins was arrested outside the cafe and is alleged to have had his liquor concealed in an automobile.

The Well-Dressed Man

By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

CHOOSING COLORS CORRECTLY

Twenty-five years ago, when colored ribbons upon straw hats first came out, they were looked at askance as foppish, yes, even effeminate. At that time, all America was in the throes of color cowardice. You had to be "genteel" and "conservative" in your mode of dress; and had to stick to stodgy shades and patterns or you were regarded as a dude or—horror—a 'rah!—rah! Boy. The present widespread vogue of color in every article a man wears, from undersuit to outer suit and from hat to hosiery, shows how far style has outgrown its swaddling clothes. If Mr. Layde Payne works miracles with color in her hats and dresses, why should not her humble servant, man, be permitted a dash of it? Color is the chief charm of clothes. Color expresses youth, sunshine, "glad-I'm-alive" and "it's-a-good-old-world." Colors allow decided contrasts without which either a man's appearance or a woman's becomes cheerless and characterless.

With color in clothes came more individuality in clothes, as well as "my" of their own whims and fancies. They refused to look like everybody else. They studied their personal advantages and shortcomings. They experimented with different effects. They found out what a most becoming to them. They started to dress as individuals, instead of as types. Gone are the days when you could point out a man, by his appearance, as a banker, a lawyer, a merchant, a salesman or anything else. Today one aims to dress as a gentleman, and that's all.

Color is the key to fashion, and color confers taste and character. Yet, color to remain in fashion, must be employed with discretion, even caution. Loud color, in by and of itself, is not smart. A "fancy" hat ribbon that screams at the passer-by and quarrels with every other color the wearer has on is neither good sense nor good style. Color is the greatest gift that fashion has presented to men's dress within the last fifty years, but if it is misused it will be withdrawn.

If you have a fancy for the striped silk "fancy" hat band, of the sort illustrated here, wear it, but tone down the rest of your appearance. Do not combine a light-colored suit, a vividly figured shirt, a conspicuously patterned shirt and bold plaid socks with a brilliant hat ribbon. This produces an excess of color in which no single color counts, but in which all are a meaningless blur. Preferably, wear a colorful hat band with a plain suit, such as dark-blue, dark-brown, dark-green, dark-gray.

When Mama Bear Finds Cameraman

W. C. McKAY, circulation manager of the Register, was home today from his vacation, with a harrowing tale of his narrow escape from a big, black bear that made an attack upon him while he was in the Yosemite valley.

The man who directs the distribution of each evening of the thousands of papers sent out from the Register office, was attempting to procure a picture of a mother bear and her cub, when the attack was made. With camera in hand, McKay had crept into the trail behind a large tree on which the cub was following.

The cub preceded the mother by a few feet and McKay was in the act of snapping the big animal when she evidently scented him and made a lunge for his position.

According to G. P. Campbell, who was with McKay, Charlie Paddock as he shot down the path with the old mother bear only a few leaps behind. McKay gained cover ahead of the infuriated animal and abided the pleasure of the bear in her departure from his place of shelter.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. McKay left here two weeks ago, going first to the Yosemite, where they spent a week, and later visiting Strawberry valley, on the Big Oak Flat road; where they attended the rodeo and where McKay again brought his camera into action in snapping a picture of U. S. Senator Shortridge, wearing a big sombrero of the Mexican type; and Jose and other points on the coast route.

LOCAL MAN IS HURT IN CRASH OF GRANDSTAND

A Santa Ana man, Paul G. Reid, 836 East Washington avenue, an employee of the Orange County Ignition Works, narrowly escaped death Saturday night when the north end of a temporary grandstand collapsed during a ceremonial of the Dramatic Order of the Knights of Pythias, in Cliff Dwellers' park, at Monrovia. More than 50 men were taken to hospitals and physicians' offices for broken legs, arms and other injuries.

Reid, who was one of the candidates to be initiated, was sitting on the lower section of the stand when the supports gave way. In falling, he struck his left side on a heavy board. Several men fell on him. Reid was able to get up, but collapsed a few moments later and was taken to a hospital. It was believed at first that he was injured internally but a careful examination revealed that, beyond a few bruises, he was not injured.

Charles Weber, one of the owners of the Pitner-Weber Cigar company, of Santa Ana, who was sitting next to Reid, was not injured.

More than 800 members and candidates from all parts of the Southland were sitting in the grandstand when the north end gave way.

Because of the crash, the ceremonial was postponed for three weeks. It will be held in Los Angeles.

Reid was brought to his home by Weber and this morning was able to go to work.

LOCAL MAN IS HURT IN CRASH OF GRANDSTAND

A Santa Ana man, Paul G. Reid, 836 East Washington avenue, an employee of the Orange County Ignition Works, narrowly escaped death Saturday night when the north end of a temporary grandstand collapsed during a ceremonial of the Dramatic Order of the Knights of Pythias, in Cliff Dwellers' park, at Monrovia. More than 50 men were taken to hospitals and physicians' offices for broken legs, arms and other injuries.

Reid, who was one of the candidates to be initiated, was sitting on the lower section of the stand when the supports gave way. In falling, he struck his left side on a heavy board. Several men fell on him. Reid was able to get up, but collapsed a few moments later and was taken to a hospital. It was believed at first that he was injured internally but a careful examination revealed that, beyond a few bruises, he was not injured.

Charles Weber, one of the owners of the Pitner-Weber Cigar company, of Santa Ana, who was sitting next to Reid, was not injured.

More than 800 members and candidates from all parts of the Southland were sitting in the grandstand when the north end gave way.

Because of the crash, the ceremonial was postponed for three weeks. It will be held in Los Angeles.

Reid was brought to his home by Weber and this morning was able to go to work.

JUNIOR C. OF C. RADIO PROGRAM GIVEN PRAISE

What was declared to have been one of the best programs ever broadcast from a Southern station was presented over KLL, The Times, Los Angeles, Saturday night under auspices of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A number of telegrams and telephone calls, requesting the repetition of various numbers and congratulating the artists on their efforts, were received at the studio during the presentation of the program.

"Uncle John," well known radio announcer, was high in his praise of the program. The program was given by D. C. Clanton, director of the municipal band, was the best of its kind ever broadcast from the studio, the announcer told officers of the chamber.

The broadcasting group was composed of approximately 75 persons.

All the entertainers were praised by President Stanley Clem and other officers of the chamber for their work. With hundreds of sets tuned in on the program, an immense amount of publicity was received by Santa Ana, it was declared.

Saturday night's program consisted of numbers by the band, vocal solos by Sally Lee Scales, soprano; Robert Bradford, baritone; and Maurice Phillips, baritone; readings by Prudence Macomber, and guitar numbers by Dorothy Bell Robinson and Carolyn Finley. Accompanists for the vocalists were Dorothy Hurd and Madame Badrow.

A talk, in which he presented facts concerning Santa Ana, and told of the aims of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was given by Bruce Switzer, secretary of the organization.

Extracts from his speech follow:

"Santa Ana, California, is known far and wide as the own-home town. Our home owners take great pride in making their homes beautiful and attractive. We encourage our citizens to own their homes; we encourage our citizens to be more active in civic affairs; we encourage our citizens to take an active part in the things that tend to build up worth-while communities.

"Santa Ana boasts one of the finest school systems in the state. Our schools are modern in every respect and conducive to good education.

COVINGTONS MOVE TO GLENDALE HOME

Following a residence here of 14 years, Judge E. B. Covington and family today removed to Glendale, where they will make their home. The family will reside at 1446 Virginia avenue, where Judge Covington recently purchased a two-story home at a cost approximating $17,000.

Included in the family, besides the father and mother, are Edward B. Sallie, Mary, Letta, Ella Jo and Woodrow Covington.

Judge Covington said today that the family regretted leaving the city, but that the change was being made to a higher altitude in the hope that the health of Mrs. Covington would be benefited.

"We have enjoyed our residence in the city and have made a great many friends, whom we regret to leave," Judge Covington said. "However, we will be close by and will make frequent visits to Santa Ana. Santa Ana is a delightful home city, and only consideration for the health of Mrs. Covington or other members of the family could induce us to change our residence.

"I want to take the occasion of my removal from the city to express my appreciation of the Register. It is a big city journal and superior to publications in many cities several times larger than Santa Ana. In national politics, it is not of my political faith, but I have found the paper more than fair in its treatment of the opposition parties. It has been eminently fair editorially and in its news column has presented the political news without injecting the personal views of its management. It has been free of slurs and abuse of the opposition, and for this I admire the paper and its management."

Girl Killed In Rescue Attempt

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27—Miss Gertrude Anthony, 19, was dead here today, victim of an attempt to save the life of her friend Miss Lou Parkin, Oakland, when Miss Parkin stepped into a hole off Neptune Beach, Alameda. Miss Anthony was fatally injured by the whirling blades of the propeller of a speedboat, maneuvering to pick her up. After she had held up Miss Parkin and had seen her taken into the craft.

Miami Mourning For Two Leaders

MIAMI, Fla., July 27—Miami is mourning the loss of two leading citizens today.

Parker A. Henderson, former mayor of Miami, was found dead in his room Sunday morning from a hemorrhage of the brain. A few hours later, Miami's most prominent citizen, W. J. Bryan, died as suddenly in Dayton, Tenn.

BRYAN'S LAST VISIT TO S. A. TWO YEARS AGO

The last appearance of William Jennings Bryan in Orange county was about two years ago, shortly before the Democratic national convention which nominated John W. Davis for the presidency.

While Mr. Bryan was in Orange to deliver his anti-evolution speech, a wire came from a news agency to the effect that New York Democrats proposed to run Bryan for president and Dr. Royal Copeland for vice president.

The correspondents descended upon him at the auditorium of the Orange union high school. His hair was thin then. His eye had lost his old twinkle and he made part of his speech sitting down.

When he was asked about the New York report, he smiled broadly and said: "I hadn't heard of it." "Just say for me," he continued, "that Mr. Bryan considers the national platforms of more importance than the candidates in the next election, and that the action of the states in the next few months will determine many of the issues. Mr. Bryan does not care to venture a prediction as to who will be nominated."

A few days before, he had made his anti-evolution speech in Santa Ana at the high school auditorium. The hall was packed.

After his speech to a friend who congratulated him he said: "I would rather talk against evolution than attend a convention."

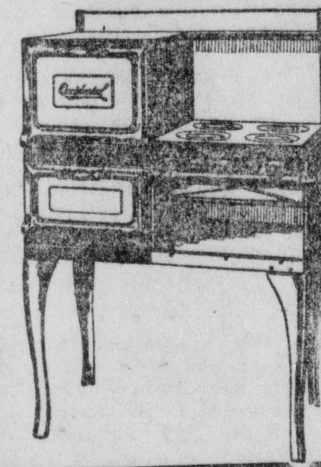

Mr. Bryan appeared here some 10 years ago on the chautauqua platform.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomachic upsetters of the past. They do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at White Cross Drug Co., C. S. Kelley Drug Co., Matern's or any real druggist anywhere in America.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength. "My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine and if after thirty days treatment you are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

Santa Ana Ebell Members to Attend Dramatic Reading

Many Santa Ana Ebell members who are vacationing at Newport and Balboa beaches are planning to attend the presentation of "Deedee" by Mrs. Edward Dvorak, noted reader, which is being sponsored by the Ebell club at Newport and will be held Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Newport Beach Grammar school.

The Newport ladies who are in charge of the project are Mrs. Ernest Grill, chairman assisted by Mrs. Conrad Richter, Mrs. W. W. Crozier and Mrs. Bertha Harper.

This being Mrs. Dvorak's first appearance in Newport Beach, the occasion is eagerly anticipated by her many friends and acquaintances, who appreciate the advantage of having an artist of her ability as a local resident. Mr. and Mrs. Dvorak now own and occupy the Modjeska cottage on Bay Island and have resided here during the past winter. Mr. Dvorak has retired from active teaching as dramatic coach, but Mrs. Dvorak continues her work as instructor of drama in the Wednesday Morning club of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Dvorak will vary her program with a number of characterizations in lighter vein. She will be assisted by Miss Emma Hardy, local violinist, who enjoys an enviable reputation throughout Orange county. Miss Hardy recently spent a year in New York City and her improved technique and exquisite interpretation indicate the benefits derived from her study and sojourn in the east. Another musician of note assisting in the program will be Mrs. Helen Swartz, coloratura soprano of Los Angeles. Mrs. Swartz will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Bernecke.

Tickets are on sale at Eastlack's drug store, Balboa; Twist's realty office, East Newport; Schnitzer's drug store, Newport Beach.

Californian Rejoices On Return From East

Mrs. W. F. Carlisle, 1302 West Fifth street, returned Sunday from a five weeks visit in the east. She was called to Aberdeen, South Dakota, because of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Stonsler, but upon arriving there found her mother much improved.

Mrs. Carlisle enjoyed a lovely trip for this is the first time she has been east in five years. She declares she was very fortunate in missing some of the hot weather, while she was transacting business in Wichita, Kansas.

In regard to the conditions in the east for the coming harvest, Mrs. Carlisle declared, "Because of the hot weather, some of the corn suffered, although the wheat crop is I think coming along fine. At least this was true in most of the states I passed through. Conditions are picking up in the east and people are looking forward to a good winter."

"I enjoyed my trip very much, but was more than glad to return to dear old California," she said. On her return to California, Mrs. Carlisle visited some time with her brother, Professor Stonsler, who is teaching during summer school in the University of California at Berkeley.

Former Santa Ana Girl Weds at Mission Inn

The Glenwood Mission Inn at Riverside was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon when Miss Lillie Shumaker, Hollywood and formerly of Santa Ana, became the bride of Bernard D. Robinson, Los Angeles.

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, Rev. Hunt, pastor of the Riverside Congregational Church read the ceremony. Miss Carrol Mas Mayfield, Hollywood was maid of honor and was crowned in a lovely creation of yellow georgette and wore a horsehair hat to match. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of sunburst rosebuds.

She was followed by the bride, whose blond beauty harmonized with the lovely satin texture of her gown. The bridal dress was fashioned very simply and a large horsehair hat and a bouquet of bride's roses completed the costume.

Dr. Brown Thompson acted as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Art room where dainty refreshments were served. The young couple will spend a few days at the Inn and then return to their newly completed home in Beverly Hills. They will be at home to their friends August 1.

The bride is well known in Santa Ana, having formerly lived here with her mother Mrs. Della Shumaker, three years ago. While in Santa Ana, she attended the local schools and following her departure from Santa Ana, she enrolled in the Hollywood high school.

Santa Ana people who attended the wedding were the bride's uncle, Frank Bos and daughter, Miss Helen, and sons Walter and Frank; Mr. and Mrs. Somerville and son Ralph and Mrs. Spencer Paterson.

Useful Hint For Separate Sleeves

Olive Gray in her fashion notes for the Los Angeles Times gives a useful hint in regard to separate sleeves. Here is the hint:

"The vogue for long sleeves, coming upon us almost unawares, as one might say, has found us unprepared in a way; and so the most ready stores have hastened to remedy the lack. There are separate sleeves, usually of the 'bishop' type, to be attached to the short or the no-sleeved dress or gown. The accommodating sleeves are of thin or transparent fabric, sometimes lavishly embroidered, sometimes plain, and may be sewed in with utmost ease. So, for once, we may 'get even' with Dame Fashion just when she thinks she has entrapped us."

CHAMBER NABS HITFEST '298' WINS AT NEWPORT

TABLES TURNED AS FAVORITES ARE DEFEATED

Number 298, owned by C. Van Landingham and sailed in brilliant manner by young Walt Lorenson, turned the tables completely in the star boat race for the Newport Harbor Yacht club championship trophy yesterday afternoon when it finished more than three minutes ahead of R. C. Noble's Pollux and Vincent Jardine's Estrellita, the two craft that have been the pride of the Newport fleet in most of the races this season.

Jardine's entry, however, captured Saturday's thrilling contest that marked an end to the series of heats for the star boat supremacy of the club, finishing a length in front of Noble's craft. Both these star boats will carry the Newport club's burgee into the big Southern California races next week-end.

Noble led most of the way in this speed duel only to have Jardine come from behind at the finish. W. C. Hervey's No. 114, never was a serious contender.

Sunday's race was sailed twice around the inside course which approximated four miles.

Knives Way to Lead.

Number 298 knifed her way into the lead at the start, cutting in between two other craft like a blade, stepping out to windward with a length to spare.

This advantage stood her in good stead, for during the entire heat up to Newport she was to windward of her rivals and therefore able to gain consistently. Lorenson kept her gaining throughout the race and she finished three minutes and twenty-three seconds ahead of the Estrellita, which was second by less than a minute over the Pollux.

Plum Brothers in the Aquilla were fourth, with Claude Putnam fifth in Doctor Soland's Betty Lou. Ben Cope trailed in Helen Maria.

Mariposa Wins Again.

Mariposa, rated the fleetest sailboat in Newport Harbor, again won the bay sloop race by half a mile or more. Miss Theo Beinecke brought her Theo in second, more than seven minutes behind. Mariposa's time was 1:15:40, not quite as good as that made by the winning star boat.

The snowbird race, sailed by youngsters, was won by Tom Webster in No. 1, as usual. Tom sailed once around the course in 4:53 to beat No. 4, sailed by Lacey Hall, by two minutes and a half. Hall made a beautiful final tack to squeeze home ahead of Ed Warrington in No. 3 by a margin of nineteen seconds. He barely got over and then went aground.

2 Santa Ana Boxers In 'Grudge' Go

One of the triple main events at the Wilmington boxing bowl Wednesday night will be an all-Santa Ana affair. Henry (Hank) Gatton and Jack Iman, whose ring name is Jack Iman, will supply these fireworks and the match is supposed to be a "grudge" one. Both Santa Anans are working hard at their respective camps and Roger Shipley, Gatton's manager, is authority for the statement that his charge is in the best condition of his career.

This will be Iman's first bout in recent months but the ex-sailor says he is in good shape. He hopes to stop the hard punching Gatton before the eight rounds are completed.

TRUCKERS BURY ORANGE UNDER 27 TO 4 SCORE

Basehits were as plentiful as Iowans on Fourth street when the Van Dien-Young company club buried the Orange Moose under a 27 to 4 score at Costa Mesa park yesterday, the lopsided victory assuring the Truckers of a tie for second place in the Orange County Summer League.

Two homers, eight triples and a double made the box score appear as if the game were played at Salt Lake. The Van Dien-Youngs feasted on the offerings of Pitcher McCulland, rapping him to all parts of the lot. Wilford led the assault and battery with six swats in seven times up. Jackson Shirley and Matheny garnered four blows each while Case and Babcock collected three apiece. All of Babcock's hits were three-baggers.

Spotted to a 15 run lead in four frames, "Husky" Jackson, the huge Van Dien-Young fliker, merely toyed with the opposition the rest of the way in. Jackson went through the league campaign without a defeat. The box score:

JOHNSON HITS HOMER IN 9TH TO WIN, 15-14

Abe Johnson's poke to left field that went for a home run and sent two of his teammates scampering home ahead of him when Smith's throw in collided with a telephone pole and caromed off the playing field gave the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce a 15 to 14 victory over the Shields Paint company in a saw-saw joust at American Legion park here yesterday afternoon. Johnson won his own game for he had been rushed to the mound for the Junior Chamber after Kidman and Spencer had been manhandled by the hard hitting Painters.

The Junior Chamber sluggers jumped on "Tex" Reister in the first frame, for five runs and the Painters came back with three off Kidman in their half. Kidman retired in the second spasm. The Painters scored in the fourth, tied the score in the fifth and went ahead with two markers in the sixth.

In the seventh "Red" Brickford tripled to deep center with the bases full and brought in the fourth Junior Chamber run of the inning, putting his team out in front again. The Painters took the lead again with three runs in their half. The Junior Chamber came back in the eighth with three more, going ahead again, only to have the opposition knock Spencer off the hill with four runs in the last part. Johnson's homer put his team out in front in the ninth and he retired the side on infield outs in the last half.

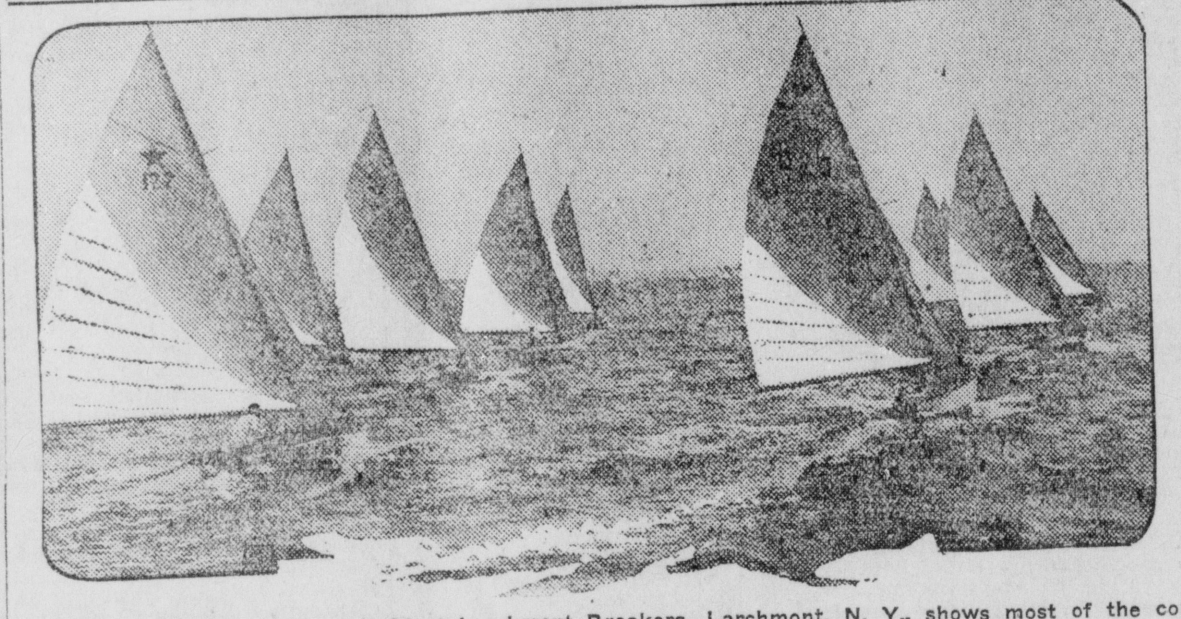

Smith's catch of Middlebrook's long fly in the seventh was easily the day's fielding feature. The Shields left gardener dashed across the road behind parked automobiles to snare the drive.

PIRATES, ATHLETICS REGAIN TOP PLACES IN CLOSE MAJOR LEAGUE PENNANT RACES

NEW YORK, July 27.—After a very brief sojourn in second place last week, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Athletics packed up and moved back into the lead in the major league pennant races.

In one of the tightest pennant races the American league has seen in years, the Athletics and the champion Washington Senators are doing the heavy battling.

Cravath Scouts In Arizona for St. Louis Club

"Gavvy" Cravath of Laguna Beach, famous home run hitter and former batting champion of the National league, has left his desk on a commission from the St. Louis Browns to go on a scouting expedition to Arizona. He is to look over some youngsters who have been making a sensation in the warm belt.

The Athletics are holding first place by the slim margin of one-half game. The other American league teams are out of the race, but they are engaged in a battle for the money paying third and fourth places.

The Chicago White Sox regained third place during the week and the St. Louis got into fourth place ahead of the Detroit Tigers.

The solid smacking that the Boston Braves gave the Giants and the whitewashing that "Dazzy" Vance handed them in Brooklyn yesterday dropped the Giants further back of the leading Pirates.

The Pirates gave the champions a good chance to get out in front when they lost three out of their five games and McGraw did get the lead for a day until Boston went to work on them. The Giants split even in their six games and lost the chance to get out ahead with something to spare.

SMITH PAR TOURNEY WINNER, LACY 2ND

Finishing but one down, Hugh Smith captured the "Against par" tournament at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday afternoon. Mark B. Lacy was second, two below par, while Ed Holmes Jr., R. B. Crenshaw, Walter Spicer, J. Fred Parsons and L. H. Robinson tied for third at three below par.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Robinson won the mixed foursomes with an aggregate of 98 strokes. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shields and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Holmes Jr. tied for second with 111. Dr. M. A. Patton and Miss Thelma Patton were fourth with 119 and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Crenshaw were fifth with 123.

Medal play for the W. C. Lorenz trophy was postponed until next Saturday and Sunday.

SEALS AND TIGERS BEGIN L. A. SERIES

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—The Vernon baseball club, cocky from the draw they managed to get with Seattle in the eight game series at Washington park last week, will tackle the league leading San Francisco Seals at the same park Tuesday and try to take them down the line.

The Los Angeles club, hopelessly outclassed by Salt Lake in last week's series, seven games to two, will try to recuperate in the Oakland climate. They play seven games against Del Howard's Oaks.

EXCELSIORS OPPOSE KIWANIS TONIGHT

Two of the best pitchers in the Santa Ana Class A indoor baseball league—Jay Bergman and Tommy Hitt—will collide at Poly field tonight when the Kiwanis club and the Excelsior Creamery company squads open the fifth week of the season at 8:15 o'clock. Tustin and Danton's Fords mix in the "B" loop eye-opener.

Garden Grove gets a "bye" in the A league tomorrow night, the Roehm-Sylvesters having dropped out of the race. The O. A. Halcyons and the Southern Counties Gas company tangle Wednesday evening while Fullerton and the Robbing-Handlers mingle Friday night. There will be no major league full Thursday.

The week's B league schedule follows: Tuesday—Post Office vs. Maytags; Wednesday—Bessers vs. Grand Central market; Thursday—P. E. vs. Kinloss; Friday—Raid's vs. Bowman-Prebles.

Piping 'Em Off

Neely's single in the 11th inning of the second game drove in the run that gave the Senators a 4 to 3 victory over the Yanks.

The Senators won the first game, 7 to 4.

Carey and Traynor led the attack with four hits each, that gave the Pirates a 6 to 4 victory over the Cubs.

The White Sox maulled three Tiger pitchers and won 8 to 6.

Rixey held the Cards safe all the way and the Reds won 7 to 1.

The Indians knocked Joe Bush out of the box and beat the Browns 11 to 6.

K. P.'S TRIM EL MODENA AS BOWMAN-PREBLES NAB DUEL FROM WESTMINSTER

Tustin today held the championship of the Orange County Summer league.

The fighting Knights of Pythias club from the neighboring city, eleventh hour starter in the fast amateur circuit, clinched its title yesterday afternoon when it buried El Modena, 13 to 3, while Westminster, which had been tied for first place, faltered on the last day of the season and fell, 5 to 4, before the Bowman-Prebles of Santa Ana in a great game at Midway City diamond.

The Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce club, outslugger of the Shields Paint company club and the Van Dien-Young company outfit, also of this city, triumphed over the Orange Moose. These victories enabled the Junior Chamber and the Van Dien-Youngs to finish in a tie for second position with Westminster.

Tustin had but little difficulty in dusting off El Modena which made a game but futile effort to do what the Bowman-Prebles did to Westminster. Millard Foster's charges pounded away at "Bib" Bracamontes, the El Modena ridge ace, all afternoon. Becko Lanfranco started for Tustin but was forced to give way when his pitching arm was hit by a pitched ball. Earl Murray, Frick and Holmes finished up and they all were poisoned by El Modena.

Kelly Beats Westminster.

The day's most exciting contest was that between Westminster and the Bowman-Prebles which was to determine whether the first organization would finish the league in a tie for the top spot. "Irish Mike" Kelly did the flinging for the winners and, being particularly strong game, being particularly good with men on bases. LeRoy Burns was on the firing line for Westminster and it was the toughest kind of a fuss for the youngster to lose for he really had a slight edge on Kelly. Burns allowed only six blows but a bad second inning in which his teammates made five errors got him off on the wrong foot. Kelly and teammates whittled down this lead only to throw the contest away in the sixth and eighth frames.

Watkins, Jamison and Kumpke did all the hitting for the Bowman-Prebles. Head and Page were the lone Beet-Toppers who connected safely more than once off Kelly.

Lanfranco was the hitting star of the Tustin-El Modena pastime, the veteran getting four blows out of five "ups." Murray, Jiles and Contra also had their hitting clothes on.

Cardinals Lose Crookshank, S. A. Track Ace

Because of a technical rule of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate conference, Miles Crookshank of Santa Ana, declared by "Dink" Templeton of Stanford University as the best broad-jumping prospect in the West, will be ineligible for another year's competition with the Cardinals.

Crookshank transferred to Stanford from Pomona College after having been on the track squad there one season. He was on the Cardinal team during the past season. Recently adopted conference rules allow a transfer student but two years of competition.

The Santa Ana athlete won his block "S" this year. He was consistently good for 23 feet in the broad jump and Templeton said he would be good for at least a foot better than that next season.

Public Links Pro Has Ace: MAKES RECORD

Fairly burning up the picturesque bay-bordered links with his superlative golf, Joe Szarfinski, club professional, established a new record at the Orange County Public golf course yesterday when he negotiated the first nine holes in 31, three strokes under par. A hole in one on the 230-yard No. 3, on which three is par, was the brightest spot in Szarfinski's remarkable performance.

The professional made the round with Mr. and Mrs. W. Parkinson, "Buck" Irving and J. Henderson. In addition to his ace, Szarfinski had two birdies and five pars on his card. He was over par on but one hole, the short No. 6, on which he took four strokes as against three par.

Szarfinski's hole in one was made with a driver. The No. 3 green is not visible from the tee. A difficult canyon, the plague of all "dubs," lies about 100 yards ahead and requires a carry of approximately 150 yards to get out of the danger zone. Szarfinski's tee shot went straight in the direction flag but the golfers looked around the fairway for several minutes before the elusive ball was discovered in the cup.

The professional's card follows:

TEXTILE PLANT WORKERS STAGE BIG WALKOUT

By JOHN GUNTHER
(Special Cable)

LONDON, July 27.—The first strike of those industries which are threatening to tie up all England this summer occurred when 135,000 textile workers walked out at Leeds, Bradford, Halifax and Huddersfield.

The strikers refused arbitration offered by the ministry of labor, scorned the last minute proposals of the employers and left the mills Thursday night, thereby seriously disorganizing the great textile industries of north England.

Early reports stated that mounted police dispersed a crowd of 500 strikers gathered outside a Leeds mill but that there were no casualties.

This strike is a mere storm in a small te-up contemplated with what is likely to happen next week when the deadline comes for the walkout of 1,100,000 coal miners.

Only four days remain before the fateful July 31. This day is likely to be another "black Friday" in British history as it is then the miners insist they will walkout. All parties continue to hope for the best but no real signs of compromise are visible yet and there are no indications that either the owners or the miners are willing to move an inch from their antagonistic position.

The government gave up its futile court of inquiry and made a last attempt to summon representatives of both sides at a special conference in Downing street. Yet it appears that the miners will not negotiate until the owners first withdraw their demands.

The Miners' federation issued final orders Thursday night ordering the walkout on July 31, leaving only enough men in the mines to secure the safety of the equipment and making arrangements to feed women and children in event of a general stoppage.

The federation pledged its case with the general council of the trades union congress, which, during the few days remaining, will make renewed efforts to effect satisfactory mediation, hoping against hope that the owners will withdraw their demands.

No one wants a strike, least of all the miners, who have the most to lose immediately, and everybody hopes for a last minute miracle to relieve the black situation. But where is the miracle coming from? No one knows. (Copyright, 1925, by Chicago Daily News.)

NORTHWEST DRAWS LARGE NUMBER OF SANTA ANANS ON VACATION AUTO TOURS

Trying to locate the home folk when they are on their vacations is a difficult thing to do, but information from auto club officials, railroad agents and others interested in summer tourist travel indicates what the majority of people are choosing as their "alpine paradise," "fisherman's heaven," or "motorists' mecca."

The northwest seems to be drawing the greatest number of autoists this year. Yosemite, Vancouver, B. C., and also the "back country," near Bishop, are the headliner destinations.

"We have given more information regarding the Vancouver trip than Yosemite, Yellowstone, and all the others put together," declared Elmer E. Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California, today. According to Heidt, the fishermen are heading for the Bishop territory this year, instead of the Klamath river section in Oregon. The opening of new roads has been a great incentive for visiting the Mammoth lakes region. The state highway commission took over the old road running north out of Mojave to the Owens river valley this year, and additional travel has been noted there.

Fishing Attracts Many
Another thing which is attractive in the Bishop region is the Mount Whitney fish hatchery. When the fellows get all the fish out of the streams, they can walk up to the hatchery and get some more. The Rainbow club of Bishop last year planted 1,347,000 fry and this year has requisitioned a still larger number.

Fred V. Lentz, of the Orange County Auto club, said he could not guarantee a fish at each point where the auto maps have placed the word "trout," but admitted that the northern territory was becoming very popular. He said the Elks and Christian Endeavor conventions in Portland have increased the coast route traffic during the past two weeks. According to Lentz, the Redwood highway in the "big tree" country, is becoming a popular substitute for the warmer Sacramento valley road, to the north. The only drawback to this trip is a 100-mile stretch between Crescent City and Grants Pass, Ore., which means a 10-hour drive in its present condition.

The Santa Fe trail is the most popular eastern motor route. The Southern California Auto club of Los Angeles is holding its own as the objective of many California travelers. The local Union Pacific office reports that Zion National park is another vacation ground that is becoming increasingly popular. "Back home" trips to the east, made on round-trip excursion rate tickets, are being made. The railroad men say that the "old home town" still has its attractiveness as a vacation ground.

At least one person each day leaves Santa Ana for the Grand canyon of the Colorado," said F. T. Smith, agent for the Santa Fe system here. Through passengers to the east often make the side trip to the canyon at this time of the year, he added.

A feature of the Canyon trip this year is a lecture course, being given by two brothers, who were in the U. S. geological expedition into the canyon two years ago. Talks are given by these men three times daily, along with the motion pictures taken by them on their journeys.

An aviation field has been established in the park near the site of the "hermit's cabins" and passenger, and picture-taking flights over the canyon are made daily, according to Smith. The petrified forest, near Adamana, was designated by the agent as another popular resort at the present time.

Yosemite Is Popular
L. B. Valla, district freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, reported that, although traffic was scattered, the Pacific northwest and the Yosemite valley were destinations most in demand by those in flight from the "busy world." Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver also are the objectives of many Santa Anans, he said. Enjoyment is being found by a goodly number in Canadian resorts, Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper National park. This Canadian park recently was established in the Peace river district.

Of the short trips, the Los Angeles county Big Pines Recreation camp is being recommended to inquirers by one auto club official. An average grade of 7 per cent and only 15 miles off the Valley boulevard are facts which cause heavy traffic in that direction.

Travel Is Scattered
The railroad agents all agree that the vacation traffic is rather scattered. Yellowstone National park still is holding its own as the objective of many California travelers. The local Union Pacific office reports that Zion National park is another vacation ground that is becoming increasingly popular. "Back home" trips to the east, made on round-trip excursion rate tickets, are being made. The railroad men say that the "old home town" still has its attractiveness as a vacation ground.

Why We're so "Fussy" About the Washing of Woolens

Grandmother wasn't half so "fussy" over the washing of woolens as we are.

After years of experience we've reduced it to an exact science, and you find all this care worth while.

Experience has taught us that only pure, soft water should be used, and that it must be just 110 degrees—never boiling. We have learned that only the finest of mild, white soap flakes—flakes which instantly dissolve and form a smooth, creamy suds—are suitable for the washing of woolens.

And we rinse thoroughly, time and again, in many changes of water, so not a vestige of soap remains to mat the fleecy fibres.

Finally, we dry these soft fluffy things in a gentle breeze of balmy air which raises the nap and plumps the fabric, making it as elastic and springy and as warm and downy as when it left the loom.

It doesn't pay to expose your fine woolens to ordinary washing—bundle them up with your family laundry and send them to us. A phone call will bring our driver, promptly.

CAN'T ESCAPE POLITICS AT SWAMPSCOTT

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1925)

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 27.—Politics seems inescapable at the summer capital. President Coolidge has invited Senator George Wharton Pepper, of Pennsylvania, to spend a week and at White Court. Now the keystone state is hardly what might be called doubtful, or anything approximating that term.

Mr. Coolidge is deeply interested in what kind of a Republican wins the nomination next year. There are whispers and rumors that Governor Pinchot is thinking seriously of entering the primaries against Senator Pepper. The latter, of course, has the backing of Secretary Mellon. Indeed, when a month ago a statement was issued attacking the secretary of the treasury on supposed laxity in prohibition enforcement, some political observers jumped to the conclusion that it was the beginning of a fight by Mr. Pinchot against the Mellon-Pepper wing of Republicanism in Pennsylvania.

Where President Coolidge, of course, will not openly express a preference with respect to Republicans in primary contests, but he can show in more ways than one which way his leanings are. If to be sure, Mr. Coolidge wanted to observe scrupulous neutrality, he would invite the other candidates to spend a week end here too. So far as Governor Pinchot is concerned, he may not know it, but any attack he makes on Secretary Mellon is like an attack on Calvin Coolidge himself. For the president esteems his secretary of the treasury very highly and it goes without saying that a criticism of inefficiency in the treasury department is regarded as a criticism against the chief executive's alleged laxity in permitting it.

For one thing, Mr. Coolidge is closer to the prohibition problem than any one thing in his administration. He has taken a personal interest in the recent changes of personnel in the treasury and in the plans outlined by Assistant Secretary Lincoln Andrews, which in turn have had the hearty endorsement of Secretary Mellon.

But while Governor Pinchot may not be politically persona grata to Mr. Coolidge, there have been signs of unrest in Pennsylvania against Senator Pepper, especially evidenced by those religious and other organizations who think his attitude toward the world court protocol is one of obstruction, rather than co-operation.

Coolidge for Ratification. Mr. Coolidge believes in the ratification of the world court proposal by the late President Harding, with the reservations written by Secretary of State Hughes to the effect that nothing in the ratifying resolution shall be construed as imposing on the United States any obligation with respect to the League of Nations which created the world court.

Mr. Pepper is eager to have the world court separated from the league by something more than the Hughes reservations. He is reported as favoring amendments to the protocol which would require acceptance by all the other governments that now have entered the world court, or at least would involve a complete overhauling of the constitution of the court, something which friends of the court would think would mean confusion and delay with respect to possible entry by the United States into the court.

Under the Harding-Hughes proposal, it will be impossible for the United States to submit a case to the world court unless the senate, by two-thirds vote in each instance, agrees to such submission. The proposal to enter the court is one largely of moral support rather than immediate effect on America's diplomatic controversies. President Coolidge is not sympathetic with Senator Pepper's proposals and while it is said that the Pennsylvania senator hopes to convert to his view the fact is Mr. Coolidge has not lost hope of obtaining Mr. Pepper's vote for the ratifying resolution especially if the Pepper amendments shall have been voted upon and be defeated.

North Dakota has more babies to every 100 inhabitants than any other state. More than 14 per cent of the population is under five years of age. The District of Columbia, with 7 per cent, ranks lowest.

The number of visitors to American national parks last year was 1,600,000—eight times as great as in 1914.

DETAILS OF EARLY PHASES OF ROOSEVELT EXPEDITION INTO ASIA'S HEART RELATED

NOTE—The United Press herewith presents the first detailed story of the early phases of the great venture of the James Simpson-Roosevelt-Field Museum expedition into the heart of Asia. It is written by the wife of Dr. Reeve Heber, who is acting as special United Press correspondent during the Roosevelt expedition. Both Dr. Heber and his wife are missionaries, with headquarters at Leh, Kashmir, and accompanied the expedition over the Zogi pass to Leh.

By KATHLEEN HEBER

Special United Press Staff Correspondent

LEH, Ladaka, India, (by mail to United Press)—The James Simpson-Roosevelt-Field Museum expedition crossed the famous Zogi pass which separates Kashmir—and what to many represents civilization—from the wild uplands of the Himalayas and the mysteries of Central Asia, in mid-May.

Our little caravan, consisting of myself, Dr. Reeve Heber and two mission nurses, accompanied the Roosevelt expedition over the pass and during several days' marches.

The pass is at an altitude of 11,500 feet and is very difficult. From early in November until May, the cross is frequently impossible, owing to the blizzards and dense snowstorms. Sometimes adventurous traders get across, carried in baskets on the backs of sturdy coolies.

Learn Pass Is Open

We waited at Senamarg with sole anxiety for news of the road over the pass and heard that it had been mended that day and was open.

The Roosevelt expedition, with 60 baggage ponies, passed through toward the foot of the pass. We set out the next afternoon toward Baltal, hearing from time to time the noise of rushing avalanches, but the sky was cloudless and the evening fine.

At Baltal, the Roosevelt expedition was in camp and George Cherrie and Colonel Roosevelt were preparing the skins of aquatic birds which they had secured.

It was arranged that their larger caravan should commence the crossing at 5 o'clock the next morning and ours would follow.

At Spinghar, we had left full summer weather. Here we were back in the spring, the trees in fresh new dresses, patches of purple irises and fritillarias beginning to peep through the grass. And tomorrow we would be back into winter snows.

The Roosevelt expedition slept in their small, low, brown tents on the ground. We awoke at 5 o'clock in the morning to see the Roosevelt expedition breakfasting by the light of a candle lantern.

Our efforts to get an early start were doomed to disappointment.

Where Grass Is Poison

In this region the grass is poisonous, ponies eating it usually dying. The pony men drive their ponies into the hills to graze away from the poison grass. In the morning, they have difficulty in rounding up the wandering animals.

By 6:30, our caravan had been rounded up and we were ready to start. The Roosevelt expedition adopted the dress worn hereabouts by Europeans—solar topi, short knee pants, leather waistcoat and khaki coat.

Our caravans, consisting of more than 100 animals, wound around the zigzag road cut into the side of the cliff, always mounting. Two avalanches lay across the road, which we crossed by a narrow track. At the top of the steep ascent, we came into eternal snow and our difficulties began.

There was a long holdup while coolies dug a path across an avalanche that had been covered with fresh snow. The laden animals floundered over the improvised path, some plunging around, some rolling over with the pack on top.

One Pony Dies. At last we moved ahead again, still afoot, as it was impossible to ride. The sun was warming up and the surface snow was very soft.

One of the ponies fell ill from eating poison grass and died. The owner set up a terrific wailing—not so much from grief, as to impress us with his loss and increase his remuneration. Sometimes the soft snow lay on thin ice, which would not bear the ponies' weight, and they went in to their shoulders, leaving their packs on top of the snow. Even when walking, one frequently stumbled into soft snow and was wet to the knees.

Presently we reached a narrow stream where the caravan had slid down from the snow banks into the water and clambered up the ice banks on the other side.

We halted there for the night, but the Roosevelt expedition pushed on two miles to a point where there was little snow and pitched their tents.

Several odd traders and a small caravan, belonging to the Rajah of Kaplu, had joined our caravan, bringing the total to more than 100 animals.

The Rajah had a son of 15, one younger, a little girl of 2, and his wife traveling with him. There were about 12 ponies.

Wife Hidden by Screen

The wife was a "purdah" Eussaulman lady and therefore had to travel in a closed "dandy" carried by four coolies, who changed at intervals. How this lady endured the gyrations of the cage as it swung at every angle as the coolies stumbled and floundered in the snow, is hard to imagine.

But at the rear of the procession was something still worse. Here was a woman tied face downward on top of a pony. She was lying flat on her abdomen, feet sticking out behind two packs on each side of the pony. Tied thus, she was helpless and swayed with the rest of the pack at every stagger and stumble of the pony. Her head was covered with the usual "burka" and could catch only occasional glimpses of what was coming through the eyelets of her head-dress. To western eyes, it was typical of the lands where woman is relegated to an onerous part of the baggage.

We pushed on to Dras, leaving the snow behind and with a relatively clear path ahead. Our caravan rested a day at Dras, while the Roosevelt expedition started on the next stage—to the foot of the famed Karakoram pass, which brings them into the wilds of the Karakoram range and far from western civilization.

AWAIT EFFECT OF WAGE CUT ON WOOLEN PRICES

NEW YORK, July 27.—The woolen trade is divided as to whether lower prices or novel fabrics are needed to stimulate demand. The week may serve to determine that question in part. Today, the American Woolen company, the dominant factor in the woolen goods industry, and a good number of other woolen mills, put into effect a 10 per cent reduction in wages. On Tuesday, American Woolen will open its lines for the spring of 1926.

The wage reduction is not expected to involve any strong opposition from workers who, in most mills involved, have been working on an extremely limited part time basis. In fact, in New England, it is felt that the action of the American Woolen company means a falling in line with the textile trade, rather than an effort to bring wages below those paid by competitors.

Reduction in Cotton Mills. The cotton manufacturers have already put into effect a similar reduction and many woolen and worsted mills, which have not followed the exact lead of the big concerns, have lengthened working hours or called conferences with employees to discuss wage cuts. In times past, the American Woolen management has been among the last to reduce wage scales. But the company last year, after deductions for interest, taxes and depreciation, showed a deficit of around $12,000,000. It is now undergoing a drastic readjustment under new management. The company is reported to have broken even or a little better in the first half of this year.

New England textile workers now are about 87 1/2 per cent of the peak reached in 1920, but they still are 111 per cent above those of 1913. After wages had been reduced 22 1/2 per cent in 1921, American Woolen was the first to advance wages 12 1/2 per cent in 1923. Other manufacturers criticized this action, but met the advance, which was maintained throughout 1924, although that was a disastrous year.

Raw Wool at Low Price

The real effect of the reduction can be gauged when the 1926 spring lines of the leading interest are made known. American Woolen has asserted vehemently through its management that it had filled its raw wool requirements most advantageously. Since wool prices earlier this year dropped to far less than present levels, the inference is in financial circles that American Woolen made its raw wool purchases at low figures.

With a 10 per cent decrease in labor costs, the position of the company probably will not be considered as consistent unless prices record a fairly well marked decline from those of a year ago. It is generally believed in the trade that the price levels for twills, serges and staple fabrics will not be higher than the 1924 levels, and that some numbers will show reductions ranging from 2 1/2 to 12 1/2 per cent. Other manufacturers are plainly waiting for a lead from their big competitor before announcing their own openings.

Of more importance is the intimation that American Woolen will probably confine the major part of its activities to standard fabrics. Many other factors in the woolen and clothing trades take the position that mere reduction of prices is not enough to incite sufficient purchasing to insure a prosperous condition to the manufacturers.

point out that the western woolen mills, which have adapted themselves more readily to modern trends, are in a most prosperous condition, although their wage scales are equal to or above those obtaining in New England. The situation does not seem likely to affect the new wool market unfavorably. The technical position of the wool growers is strong and the larger part of the 1925 clips already has been sold at good prices. In years past, there has usually appeared some one special fabric which served to lift the woolen and clothing industries from the red to the black side of the ledger. U. S. Agricultural Department Finds English Bird Makes Toothsome Dish

Santa Anan Says Winged Creature Is Worst Nuisance He Knows

By E. NEIL STANLEY

Have you a little English sparrow in your yard? Or perhaps a whole flock of them? If you have, and the chances are favorable, you can plan on a very fine meal. That is, if you can catch the sparrows, which is a feat that has caused many a black-haired man to discover that his hair has turned to another and lighter color.

No less an authority than the U. S. department of agriculture says that the English sparrow is good to eat. In fact, asserts the department, the meat of a sparrow is exceedingly tender. The difficulty lies in the fact that quite a collection of the birds is necessary for a meal.

A state law prohibits the poisoning or shooting of songsters. Since a protected bird is apt to get the poison or the bullet intended for the sparrow, it can readily be seen that the person bent on a sparrow meal must exercise considerable assiduity.

It would appear that the best way to capture the sparrow would be to trap them and in the matter of bird traps, they are as numerous as the sparrows themselves. They may be elaborate or they may be simple. The main thing is to have a contraption that will get the birds.

Now, the question may be asked, why should anyone want to do away with the English sparrow, outside of wanting a few hundred for eating purposes? Well, the English sparrow, like the rat among animals, is cunning, destructive, filthy, quarrelsome and a general all-around nuisance. Outside that, the sparrow is not a bad sort of bird.

ONE OF PLANES THAT WILL ATTEMPT FLIGHT
FROM CALIFORNIA TO HAWAII IN SEPTEMBER

One of the planes to attempt a flight to Hawaii in September and, Insert, Commander John Rogers. San Francisco probably will be the starting point.

Expect to Cross From San Francisco to Islands In Thirty Hours

Huge airliners plying daily between the United States and Honolulu, accomplishing in 21 hours what it takes six days to do now by steamer.

It is such a dream as this that has incited navy flyers to brave the dangers of unknown air lanes over 2100 miles of the Pacific. Knowing that Davy Jones awaits them should an accident befall their planes, these men are preparing to take off on the first long trans-Pacific "hop" — California to Hawaii.

When the three planes land at Honolulu, the way will be paved for the realization of their dreams — air lines that will bind the Hawaiians much closer to America.

Traveling at 100 miles per hour

—moderate speed for an airplane — it would take less than a day to complete the trip. But no great speed will be attempted on this initial flight, as the planes will be heavily loaded. The journey will be made in about 30 hours — one hour and 25 minutes more than the largest seaplane flight up to date.

September 2 is the date set for the hop-off. Plans and preparations for the flight have been going forward for months.

Comm. John S. Rogers is studying air conditions in San Francisco. It is probable the flight will be started from there.

"The only other place we could start from is San Diego, and San Francisco is 200 miles nearer Hawaii," declared Rogers.

Two PN-9 planes scheduled to make the trip were built at the Philadelphia navy yard and shipped to San Diego for assembling. The third ship picked for the journey is a Boeing Patrol, now nearing completion in Seattle.

Each PN-9 plane will carry a crew of three, while the Boeing, because of its greater size, will carry four.

Commander Rogers relinquished command of the U. S. S. Wright (airplane tender) to take charge of the flight.

Officers who will fly the PN-9s are Commander Rogers and Lts. Allen P. Snoddy, Byron J. Connell and Arthur Gavine.

Lt. Comm. J. H. Strong and Lt. R. A. Davidson, R. Botta and Andrew Crinkley will make up the personnel of the Boeing.

Will their expedition be successful? Or, like Harry Hawker, English aviator, who first attempted a non-stop flight across the Atlantic, will they be forced to make the trip were built at the Philadelphia navy yard and shipped to San Diego for assembling. The third ship picked for the journey is a Boeing Patrol, now nearing completion in Seattle.

BATHERS DAILY
TRY TO DROWN
THEMSELVES IN SEA

Lifeguards Must Be Alert to Save Smart Alecks and Flappers from Death

Between flappers and smart Alecks, the lifeguard has much difficulty convincing bathers that they should not drown themselves. So says Antar "Tony" Deraga, captain of Newport Beach lifeguards and observer for the U. S. meteorological station at the Palsades.

His remark gains added significance from the fact that the ocean is claiming a toll of lives because of foolhardiness of the people. "Many people are actually defiant toward measures for their safety," the captain asserted. "We place signs at dangerous places and the people laugh and go in swimming just to show they can."

Objections to Signs.

"And it is not easy to obtain permission to have the signs erected," Deraga added. "Real estate men cry that property values fall off and the owners charge that their beach is being ruined. 'Sometimes people seem to lack all sense and reason. An office clerk who has been indoors all year will come to the beach and in a wild fling at pleasure, join in all kinds of activities and be in danger of drowning because of exhaustion.'"

"Another fool is the person who stuffs himself with hot dogs, ice cream, candy and other beach confectionery and then goes in swimming," Deraga continued.

Flappers among the worst of beach food addicts, it was intimated. Despite their allurements, flappers are a source of worry to the lifeguards.

Flappers Brave Dangers.

"They are always daringly going into dangerous places," the captain said. "When we warn them, they come gliding up to us with an admiring eye, especially if we are dressed in full uniform."

"Are you a lifeguard?" they ask. "Oh, isn't that nice. Such a big, brave man you must be. Do you like to rescue drowning people?"

Can you swim well?" Captain Deraga classifies people into three groups. In the first group are those who heed warnings issued for their protection. The second class comprises those who openly defy regulations just because they consider it "smart."

Then the last class is those who do not like to be shown that they are in the wrong.

"The bathers who boast that they can care for themselves are usually the victims of drownings. They go out beyond safety and then realize their danger. Do they call for help? No, they are 'too proud,' the captain said. "They would rather drown than admit they are at fault."

Aactics in Rescue.

Different tactics are employed by the lifeguard corps to rescue endangered bathers. Defiant ones are treated harshly, daring ones are warned, and reasonable ones are simply informed.

Captain Deraga said that there was no means of forbidding bathers to go in swimming where they pleased. The lifeguards must stand around until the swimmer is drowning and then make an attempt to rescue the victim.

"There is no reason why anyone should drown," Deraga emphasized. "If they would keep their senses and not struggle frantically, they could float."

The only sure measure for making the beaches safe is by teaching all youngsters how to swim, the captain of lifeguards declared. It is impossible to instruct an adult in correct methods as it is to teach an old dog new tricks, he said.

Teaching the young boys and girls swimming and informing the public are the steps advocated by Deraga to eliminate the toll of lives claimed each year by drowning.

Interest in pigeons is increasing all over the country, Captain Delhauer said. The pigeon proved its value during the World war and practically every government, including the American, is encouraging the raising of homing pigeons.

"Indicative of the widespread interest in the homing pigeon, the Japanese government has secured a number of European experts and a large flock of trained pigeons," the former army man said. "In Belgium, flying pigeons is a national sport and practically everyone is interested."

Captain Delhauer was in charge of the government pigeon loft at Camp Albert Vall, N. J., for a number of years, but returned to his old home in Ontario when his resignation became effective. He plans to devote a large portion of his time, during the next few months, to writing a book on pigeons.

Preparations are being made for the laying next year of a new cable between Penzance and New York, via Newfoundland. The new cable will be capable of taking about 2500 letters a minute in one direction only, or 500 words a minute more than is possible in the first section of the new German cable that has been laid between New York and the Azores.

PIGEON OWNERS PARKS IN S. A.
ATTEND OUTING HELD TOO LOW

More than 200 pigeon fanciers from all parts of the Southland, among them Capt. Ray R. Delhauer, Ontario, pigeon expert with the U. S. army for many years, gathered in Orange county park yesterday for a picnic and young bird show. The gathering was held under the auspices of the Southland California Pigeon association, an organization of utility, fancy and racing pigeon owners recently formed.

Santa Ana and Orange county owners fared well at the show. Local men winning awards were: A. C. Wiebe, first prize for Black Lace Blondinettes; S. J. Mstol, first prize for best squabs; C. P. Cunningham, first, second and third prize for best White King King; third prize for best White King; first, second and third prizes for best English Trumpeters. W. Clyde Hoskins, Fullerton, was awarded first prize for the best homing male and first prize for the best homing hen.

The meeting opened yesterday morning with short talks by A. M. Fowkes, Pomona, president of the association; W. A. Proctor, Santa Ana, first vice president, and H. O. Keesling, secretary.

Announcement was made to the effect that the organization now has 125 members. Within a few months the 200 mark will be passed, it was predicted.

Captain Delhauer, who is the author of numerous writings on pigeons, severed his connection with the army June 30. He plans to devote a large part of his time to pigeons.

According to Captain Delhauer, making pigeon owners all over the United States are up in arms against the shooting of pigeons by hunters. Revision of the federal statutes, which prohibit the killing of government owner pigeons, to include all racing pigeons, is advocated, he says.

"We have evidence that hunters in certain sections of the country make it a point to be near at hand when large numbers of racing pigeons are released and then shoot them down," declared Delhauer. "Every year, hundreds of valuable birds are killed outright or maimed by men who call themselves hunters."

Interest in pigeons is increasing all over the country, Captain Delhauer said. The pigeon proved its value during the World war and practically every government, including the American, is encouraging the raising of homing pigeons.

"Indicative of the widespread interest in the homing pigeon, the Japanese government has secured a number of European experts and a large flock of trained pigeons," the former army man said. "In Belgium, flying pigeons is a national sport and practically everyone is interested."

"Too many laws are being passed by the legislative bodies of the state and nation," the speaker of the house declared, in asserting that an attempt is being made to legislate on every activity of life. In a facetious strain, he said that bills introduced at the last session of the California legislature related to the size of eggs, the building of bridges and other similar matters that he intimated should not come within the scope of state legislation.

Pointing out that 2147 measures were introduced at the session, with 988 being passed and approximately 480 approved by the governor, the house speaker said that the public, and not the legislature, was responsible for the large number of bills introduced.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

MANY ARRESTS MADE AT BEACH IN RUM CASES

NEWPORT BEACH, July 27.—Liquor was here in quantity over the weekend, according to the number of arrests on the books of City Recorder Andrew Wilson. Fines assessed today against offenders totaled over $500.

Several of the alleged offenders were prominent citizens of Southern California who concealed their identity by signing as "John Doe," it is reported. One of these was said to be a lawyer for a big Los Angeles oil company.

"Miss Anaheim" to Take Part Aug. 9 In Beach Parade

Miss Gertrude Bryan, who since her election as "Miss Anaheim" for the recent state beauty contest and bathing revue at Santa Cruz, has been winning honors in numerous other bathing parades and contests, will compete with more than 250 Southern California beauties in a Long Beach Bathing Girl Pageant to be held in the beach city Sunday, August 9. If the Long Beach city council allows the parade to be held.

Entries have been sent from cities throughout the Southland, and the most beautiful girl appearing in the huge pageant will be given the title of "Miss California" and many opportunities to appear in motion pictures await her.

The board of judges for the event will be made up of noted motion picture stars, producers and directors, and of distinguished artists and sculptors. The judges will know the entries by number only. Ten prizes will be awarded, ranging from $10 to $500.

UNION DEPOT TO GO UP AT NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, July 27.—A large union depot office for Newport Beach has been announced by officials of the Pacific Electric great car company, the Southern Pacific railway company and the Pacific Coast Motor Coach company.

Construction of the proposed building is expected to be started within a month at a site selected between 24th and 25th streets on the right-of-way property of the companies.

The decision to erect the depot was made following a conference of company officials here. The depot will be used as a terminus for the three transportation lines, it was stated.

YOUTHS RESCUED AT BAY ENTRANCE

BALBOA, July 27.—Four unnamed youths narrowly escaped drowning yesterday when a kicker boat, in which they were riding, capsized at the treacherous channel entrance to Newport bay.

Members of the life saving corps rescued the boys in a motor boat. Antar Deraga, captain of the guards, and Gerald Twist, volunteer crew member from Santa Ana, manned the craft that went to the scene of the accident.

With fool-hardy recklessness, the four victims had driven the kicker boat to a point at the entrance where they could ride the breakers coming from the ocean. The tiny skiff was unable to stand the buffeting of the waves and was capsized but righted itself.

The youths were saved when they snatched hold of the half-sunk kicker and held on until rescued.

In broken words, they said that they had propelled their boat into the breakers for the excitement and thrill of the adventure. Even after they were safe, the youths did not realize the danger they had faced. Captain Deraga reported. The accident occurred about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Prompt action by the life guards effected the rescue. The boys, with the recovered kicker, were taken within the bay to a safe landing where they were given their liberty.

QUEEN OF LAGUNA FIESTA IS DAUGHTER OF PIONEER

Miss Katherine Isch has been chosen unanimously to be queen of La Fiesta Espanola to be given in Laguna Beach August 5, 6, 7 and 8. The title is hers by right of birth. She is the daughter of J. N. Isch, pioneer merchant of Laguna Beach, and was born in the beautiful environment of the famous seashore town. Miss Isch is a student at Southern Branch of the University of California.

BENCH WARRANT IS ISSUED FOR SANTA ANA MAN

ORANGE, July 27.—One of three motorists, charged with speeding 50 miles an hour down the El Modena grade, was to be re-arrested following failure to appear in justice court here to answer to the charge.

After waiting through most of the afternoon for W. L. Corbett, of Santa Ana, the accused motorist, Justice G. W. Ingle issued a warrant for his arrest, which was to be served by State Motor Officer P. G. Yoder, who made the original arrests.

Corbett's two companions, William Parry, of Fullerton and E. Greiner, of Santa Ana, appeared in court in answer to the original summons.

After they had pleaded guilty to the fifty-mile charge, Justice Ingle imposed a fine of $75 each. In explaining how they happened to be racing at such a clip, one of the men told the court that they didn't know each other but that when one tried to pass, the other speeded up.

No Progress In Crawford Hunt Made by Family

ANAHEIM, July 27.—Failure of detectives and police engaged in the search for Thomas Crawford, wealthy retired publisher of this city, who disappeared July 10, to find any clues which might aid in tracing the missing man, was reported by members of the family today, who declared that the search would be continued despite discouraging results.

It was disclosed that detectives are still following the theory of foul play, and that a thorough investigation is being made.

Efforts to trace Crawford to Arizona, where he was intending to negotiate a land deal near Yuma, have proved futile, the last person known to have seen him being the stage driver on a Pickwick stage, on which he traveled from Anaheim to Los Angeles.

Personal and Social Notes of Fullerton

FULLERTON, July 27.—Miss Helen Moffitt, of this city, who is staying at Newport Beach, has invited the members of the leader's class of the Presbyterian church to attend a party there tonight. A wiener bake will follow the regular business meeting.

Mrs. Ida Gleason, of Garden Grove, has been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Page, of West Whiting avenue.

A. V. McComb, of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haer, of Monrovia, are stopping at the W. H. Daniels home, on East Chapman avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Williams and daughter, Dorothy, spent Saturday evening in Los Angeles, and went from there to Lake Arrowhead, where they spent Sunday.

LAGUNA BEACH, July 27.—Katherine Isch, the chosen queen of La Fiesta Espanola, is a native born daughter. She will don the crown of the festival season with every right of birth and beauty queens are supposed to inherit. Miss Isch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Isch, pioneers of Laguna Beach, two of the best known citizens of this town. Miss Isch is a pupil at the University of California, Southern Branch, and is at present studying in the Biological Laboratory at Laguna Beach, which is connected with Pomona College.

Of the dark, Spanish type, tall and willowy, inclined to athletics, Miss Isch is especially fond of swimming, tennis and dancing.

From French Descent.

The Isch name is French and the family several generations ago came from Lorraine, France, and the aristocratic French blood still shows in the features of the queen of La Fiesta Espanola.

Wednesday evening, August 6, the queen will be driven about the streets of the town, her outriders garbed in the Spanish fashion, her train bearers and pages like pictures of old Spain and its court. The queen's costume of white and gold will be covered with a cloak of cloth of gold bordered with ermine, from a crown of dazzling jewels will hang many strings of pearls that will fall to the waistline. Jewels of glorious coloring will enhance the beauty of the costume.

The queen's equine will be covered with rare blooms, she will sit in a bower of flowers with her pages and attendants.

Courtiery to Ride Beside Her. Riding beside her will be her courtiers and following behind the queen's carriage will be her court, the populace in Spanish costumes and the general crowd that follows the queen on her journeys.

Miss Isch, chosen because of her youth, her beauty and her birth is a most popular choice as her parents are so well known. Mrs. Isch, Katherine's mother, has been for 20 years on the school board and her father was the local postmaster for many seasons.

The newly chosen queen of La Fiesta Espanola will be the queen of Laguna Beach from August 5 to August 8. Her first triumphal tour will be made for her loyal subjects to see her, to August 5 when she will sit with her court in state, to watch the grand ball in the Community clubhouse that will mark the close of La Fiesta Espanola.

Realtor Again Wins Case from Laguna Woman

LAGUNA BEACH, July 27.—For the second time within two weeks, L. F. Henaman, Laguna Beach realtor, has received judgment in a suit for commission against Mrs. A. G. Walters.

The defendant asked for a change of venue, the first time, and the case was heard by Judge Landell of San Juan Capistrano. The defendant and her attorney failed to put in an appearance and judgment was given by default. By stipulation of the attorneys for both parties the case was reopened and Judge L. V. Murphy was asked to sit. He refused, on advice of the district attorney, and the case was heard on its merits by Judge Landell. This time he gave judgment for $100 and costs in favor of the plaintiff, Louis N. Wheaton, of Long Beach. Mrs. Walters' attorney, gave notice of appeal and was granted a ten days' stay of execution.

Little Girl Is Appeased With New Little Kitty

FULLERTON, July 27.—The pet kitty of little Vernice Vickery, who lives in the California Hotel, was suddenly stricken by some disease which is evidently fatal to cats, and became so ill that occupants of the hotel were forced to call Officer Joe Clever to the scene, on Saturday morning.

Officer Clever applied all known methods of resuscitation, but failed, and kitty was pronounced in the land where all cats are happy. Funeral services were held, with little Vernice weeping in such a heartbroken manner that Chief of Police O. W. Wilson was touched and promised to find another playmate for the little girl.

After a frantic search through the city, Chief Wilson discovered friends who had a lovable little kitten, "Susie." Vernice is happy now, according to Wilson.

TELL EFFORTS TO KEEP WELL PUMPING WATER

LAGUNA BEACH, July 27.—Romance isn't found lurking around water systems very often, but Guy Skidmore will tell you that there is plenty of it in the water game. The story of how a handful of men did with little sleep and fought almost a losing fight for several months to keep Laguna Beach from going literally dry, can be told now that a great last effort has saved the day and a pump part, lost in transit from the east, can take its own time in reaching Laguna Beach.

Always a problem, because of its scarcity, the water situation became almost a tragedy to Lagunans within the past two weeks. In May a small crack was noticed in the cylinder of the pump at the Aliso booster plant. The engineer figured that it would last about six weeks. Guy Skidmore, superintendent of the water works, ordered a new part from a concern in the east. Word was received that it had been shipped.

Day by day, and week by week, the crack widened. The pump was run as slowly as possible to relieve the strain but when 25,000 persons descended upon Laguna Beach for the hill climb and a like number crowded the town on July 4, the old pump was taxed to its utmost.

Wire after wire was sent to the pump concern. There was no cylinder for that kind of pump on the Pacific Coast, was the answer, but the part had been shipped and was due in Los Angeles.

Two weeks ago the cylinder cracked almost wide open. An attempt was made to weld it, but there was no way to preheat the part with the apparatus in hand. The patch job didn't last very long and then came days when the residents of Arch Beach and the cliffs were without water. The canyon wells worked overtime but the capacity was not sufficient for all sections of the town.

The climax came when word was received that the pump part had been traced and would not reach San Pedro until July 29. Guy Skidmore mustered his forces and told them how desperate the situation really was.

"There is only one thing to do," he said. "We will have to take down the pump and rush the cylinder to Santa Ana."

The rapidity with which this work was done will mark a chapter in the history of Lagunas fight for water. The damaged cylinder was mended and returned and placed in position in less than 36 hours.

Recesses Court To Tie Knot for Los Angeles Pair

LAGUNA BEACH, July 27.—Cupid has the right of way over Old Man Trouble, according to a decision made by Judge L. V. Murphy of Laguna Beach. No, you are wrong! Cupid was not pinched by a speed cop.

A civil suit was on in Judge Murphy's courtroom Saturday. Lawyers and witnesses were locking horns over disputed points in the case before his honor. The "I did" and "you didn't" were flying thick and fast. As the judge struggled mentally for wisdom there was a tap on his shoulder and a whisper in his ear. For just a moment he hesitated, then pouring his gavel he announced: "The court will take a recess for 15 minutes."

Plaintiff, defendant, lawyers, witnesses and spectators were bewildered at the sudden move.

His honor hurried to his chambers where he found Frank S. Hopkins, 35, a tire salesman of Los Angeles and Elsie Helen Jones, 23, a stenographer for the same house, waiting to be married. After the knot had been tied neatly, Judge Murphy learned that the pair were bound for Tucson, Arizona, for a month's holiday. They wanted to go on their vacation together and decided it would be just as well to go as man and wife.

"Why did you come to Laguna Beach?" asked Judge Murphy. "Oh, we heard that this was a wonderful place and we thought it would be so romantic to be married within sound of the pounding sea waves," said the bride.

STIFF PENALTY IS HANDED TO SPEEDY DRIVER

FULLERTON, July 27.—Arrested by Deputy Marshal H. T. Moreness while he was alleged to have been speeding at a rate of 53 miles per hour, C. M. Vaughan, of 1207 Crone avenue, Anaheim, was fined $50, given a five-day suspended jail sentence, and his operator's license revoked for 60 days by City Recorder George Story.

The judge said that a like fate awaits any driver showing such speed within the city limits. He also stated that 12 bench warrants had been issued for nonappearance of motorists who were charged with violation of the California vehicle act.

"When we get out a bench warrant," he said, "they had better bring a toothbrush and extra pair of socks, because after this, those who we find necessary to bring to court by a bench warrant will receive a jail sentence, as well as a heavy fine."

Judge Story also said that police were keeping close watch for violators of the city parking laws and declared that each ticket now brought in would result in a fine. Drivers who leave their cars standing in the streets are also being arrested, he said.

YOST THEATER

Paramount has been its own lavish self in selecting a cast for "Grounds for Divorce," which will be the feature at the Yost theater tonight.

"Grounds for Divorce," directed by the man who made "The Dressmaker from Paris," was written for the screen by Violet Clark from Guy Bolton's adaptation of the continental comedy by Ernest Vajda, author of "The Harem," "The Dark Angel," etc. Florence Vidor, Matt Moore and Louise Fazenda are featured in the leading roles.

Miss Vidor has the role played by Ina Claire when the play enjoyed a prolonged run on Broadway during the season 1924. As Alice Sorbier, she finds herself married to a prominent Parisian divorce lawyer, who is too busy obtaining divorces for wives whose husbands have neglected them to pay much attention to her.

Matt Moore, of the famous Moore family of screen players in Maurice Sordier, the lawyer, Louise Fazenda, cast as Marianne, an actress, is his client. Miss Fazenda departs from her usual character comedy roles in this production and lives the modern woman with vampish tendencies.

WALKER VAUDEVILLE BILL.
Orpheum circuit vaudeville confines its playing to the larger cities and few, if any, cities the size of Santa Ana show acts direct from this loop. Citizens of Santa Ana should be proud that this city is recognized by outsiders as being able to run Orpheum circuit vaudeville.

On the bill at Walker's this week, is an unusually well-rounded summer show. The vaudeville is all light comedy, and the feature picture is anything but heavy.

On the opening spot of the stage program is the McDonald Trio who offer some stunts that one wouldn't want to go home and try on one's piano after the show. They ride three deep on one bicycle around the stage and do many tricks that make the audience gasp with astonishment and admiration.

Edward J. Lambert's make-up is good for a big laugh from the pit and shelf, and when his partner, Franchon Frankel, makes her appearance the team work much more than doubles its value. Lambert's contortions of the English language keeps the audience laughing for a good quarter of an hour. Their act is called "Youth and Beauty."

Pepito, the Spanish clown, and his grotesque "props" are good for a large volume of laughter any time. With his pretty assistant, Rosita, he does all the laughable stunts imaginable, as well as some clever impersonations. They romp through a routine of imitations, ventriloquism and music. He also rides one of the finest bicycles ever seen on the stage.

The headline act is Wells, Virginia and West in "Two Sailors and a Girl." They provide a generous supply of mirth-provoking comedy and nimble-footed dancing skill. They are one of the best comedy dancing troupes of the day and can always be depended on for a full measure of fun.

Maurice Diamond and company offer nine dancing numbers, each distinctly different and each one composed of an assortment of new steps. Diamond dances very much like an electric spark, describing every conceivable motion and what is even more, his efforts are original and unique. The company is composed of six people and their pot pourri of songs and dances is called "Originalities of 1925."

On the screen is "Smooth as Satin," starring Evelyn Brent. It is one of the best crook stories ever filmed.

YOST VAUDEVILLE BILL
Seldom will be found a group of eight prize-winning beauties such as Jack Bigelow has managed to get together for Bigelow's Music Messes the leading act at the Yost theater Tuesday and Wednesday. One of the peculiar co-incidents of his girls is the fact that six of the eight belong to two families, the Vimonds and the Bigelows, three sisters in each group. But the girls are not noted for their beauty alone. Bigelow is a master of synchronization and in selecting his company he not only kept an eye out for the beautiful but was obliged to make his selection from the standpoint of musical ability as well.

Ray Conlin is billed as the "Sub Vocal Comedian" and offers an entirely new version of comedy ventriloquism. He keeps his material absolutely up to the minute and demonstrates by his work that he is a master of his art.

This program will be remembered for its abundance of feminine pulchritude and beauty for in addition to the Musical Misses there will be the Three Marion Sisters who specialize in peppy dancing. These girls are no harder to look at than the others and with their complete repertoire of modern dances combined with a beautiful stage setting and gorgeous gowns they contribute in no small degree to the attractiveness of the show as a whole.

A comedy burlesque on the well known style of mind reading acts is being offered by William Howe and Marie Fey in a number they call "Sense and Nonsense" and it is mostly just that. They work with delightful rapidity and manage to make a howling comedy out of a subject that usually leans toward the serious and mysterious.

Harry Brown has managed to put a new twist into the juggling business by opening and closing his act with some good songs rendered in a really good voice. He makes his juggling go over in a way that reflects credit on his ability as a showman.

WEST END THEATER.

Theater-goers should see "Find Your Man," the picture which opened at the West End theater last night, if only to get a glimpse of a real lumber country. If the picture had nothing else to recommend it, it would still be considered a good production because of the extraordinary scenery—the spectacular water falls, the smooth, sparkling river, the secluded hut in a magnificent country.

The scenery, to be sure, would be sufficient recommendation for this production, but you do not have to accept our suggestion to see the picture on one particular feature, for there is another—in fact many others to recommend it. One of the most important is the acting of Rin-Tin-Tin, a Belgian police dog with almost uncanny intelligence. He has had the training of a real athlete, as his high jumps, running and broad jumps will prove.

June Marlowe plays the leading feminine role convincingly. Eric St. Clair, as her sweetheart, is exceptionally good. Other members of the cast are Charles Mailles, Pat Hartigan, Fred Stanton, Lew Harvey and Charles Conklin. The story deals with a plot to steal government lumber, involving a drunken lumberjack and his pal. When Eric St. Clair and his dog, Rin-Tin-Tin, get mixed up in the affair, the action starts, and is brought to a very satisfactory conclusion.

Hold Postmaster For $7000 Shortage

PACIFIC GROVE, Calif., July 27.—James Harper, postmaster here, was arrested on a felony embezzlement warrant, charging a shortage of $7000 in his accounts.

The alleged shortage was uncovered by Postoffice Inspectors R. W. Madden and Frank McKean and represented to Assistant District Attorney A. Campbell, who swore out the warrant.

Harper was a former mayor of the city and is prominent here.

SUBURBAN THEATER

"Why Wives Go Wrong," a comedy drama in four acts, is the latest offering of Griff Barnette's Players at the Suburban theater, at Orana. The play began a week's run last night before the largest audience of the past several weeks.

Many reasons may be suggested why wives go wrong, but in Barnette's Players' show, probably the most reasonable, and yet the most interesting reason of all, is presented.

A young couple, married two years should find little trouble with life, one would think, but the couple the audience finds on the stage at the rise of the first curtain has plenty of troubles. It is the climax that puts the show over 100 per cent. This week's bill can easily be classed as the best that the Barnette players have given since the reopening of the legitimate stage in Orange county.

Miss Iva Shepard is given a chance this week to display her ability as an actress and she carries out her part in excellent style. William H. Stephens has the role of the jealous husband, Griff Barnette plays the third end of the eternal triangle.

The play is full of action with many surprising turning points, that has the audience crying one moment, laughing the next.

250 ATTEND BEACH CHAMBER MEET

only to a small group of persons."

Much Time Wasted.
He directed attention to the answering by legislators to 99 recalls on bills as an instance in which the time of the members of the state body is wasted.

Perhaps one of the most impressive moments ever witnessed at a meeting of the secretaries' association was when McDonough completed a detailed talk on true conditions at Santa Barbara and was overcome by his emotions when he attempted to express his personal appreciation and the gratitude of the residents of Santa Barbara for the telegrams of sympathy and offers of assistance sent to the stricken city immediately following the destructive quake.

The secretary declared that censoring of news from the stricken city was so severe that even neighboring cities did not know fully the extent to which the city was damaged. He presented the situation in its true light, asserting that the damage amounted to one-half of the $30,000,000 assessed valuation of the city. He spoke in detail of the condition of property owners, including the city, where public buildings and homes were wrecked, with the properties encumbered and many home owners suffering losses of their life savings. Three of the eight schoolhouses were completely wrecked and the other five were damaged. All but 2 per cent of the 6000 residences in the city were either wrecked or damaged, he declared. Charitable institutions and churches were hard hit.

Cites Relief Plans.

Plans of the California Development association for raising a fund of $1,500,000 for assisting in relief work and rehabilitation of the city were recited by Norman Courtney, a representative of the plan being assign quotas to different counties in the state. Reports disclosed that many communities have taken steps to raise their assigned quotas.

The Santa Barbara secretary made an appeal to the secretaries to give special attention to building codes in their respective communities, and stressed the point of adoption of codes requiring the use of the very best material and employment of competent and honest men in the construction work.

"No community has assurance that it will not be hit by an earthquake," the secretary said. "Honoring the damage wherever a quake strikes."

A boat ride to the lake in the upper reaches of the bay before lunch, a ride to the harbor entrance after lunch and bathing in the ocean and bay were pleasures enjoyed by the visitors. Dancing and other entertainment in the evening completed a day of profit and enjoyment.

Addresses of Welcome.
The business session was held in the dance hall of the clubhouse, following lunch. Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, offered the welcome on behalf of the chambers of commerce of Orange county, and Commodore Warrington, of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, extended the welcome on behalf of the club.

Under direction of A. M. Stanley, manager of the Orange County fair, Miss Faustina Lucero offered a pretty Spanish dance as indication of the program that will be presented when the fair is held here September 22 to 26. Miss Allen presided at the piano. At the conclusion of the dance number, President Burton made the comment that if Spanish dancers of the type of Miss Lucero were kept on farms there soon would be a rush "back to the farm" on the part of young men.

Redondo was selected as the meeting place for August.

HOTEL BEDS FOR TALL MEN URGED

MARSHFIELD, Ore., July 27.—Longer beds and longer sheets in tall men's hotels all over the world is the aim of the International Longfellow club, revealed here by Ben Ostlund, organizer and president.

This city and North Bend will become the mecca of tall men under Ostlund's plan for refitting the hotels with seven-foot beds and six-foot bathtubs. He also is going after city authorities to have the awnings raised to seven feet altitude and will have a delegation of six-footers before the city council soon to demand the right to walk down the street without bumping hats off heads.

Tall men's hotels in every city in the United States within two years, longer cots for soldiers and longer Pullman berths are included in the preliminary campaign.

Ostlund, just returned from a jaunt around the nation, said he arranged for the new mal altitude hotels in New York, Washington, Minneapolis, Chicago and Los Angeles, in addition to organizing clubs at those places.

U. S. Attorney General John Sargent, only six-footer in the cabinet, is supporting the movement, he said.
To New Zealanders and two Australians are carrying the tall men's gospel home with them, Ostlund reported.

MORE CHICAGO BUILDING

CHICAGO, July 27.—Building permits for the first three weeks in July totalled more than $13,000,000 in Chicago, compared to $10,000,000 a year ago. For the year, permits have been $210,000,000, or $39,000,000 more than in 1924.

CLAIM SPARROWS ARE GOOD TO EAT

The English sparrow fights and dispossesses useful birds, replaces their songs with discordant sounds, destroys fruits, grain and garden truck, and makes himself a pest.

George W. Minter, 322 West Third street, who arrived in Santa Ana almost before the sparrow, believes in stern measures when it comes to fighting them.

A number of years ago, when the pests became particularly obnoxious, Minter set fire to a palm tree in his yard that had been taken over by the birds. While the fire got rid of the birds from this particular tree, it brought out the local fire department and the customary gathering of interested citizens. The firemen requested Minter not to set any more trees on fire and, being a good, law-abiding citizen, the sparrows' enemy promised, although he still feels that there is nothing like a hot fire to get sparrows out of a palm tree.

Sparrow is Nuisance
Minter declares that, of all the nuisances in the world, the English sparrow is the worst.

"The sparrows are constantly making a lot of noise," Minter declares. "They drive singing birds away by fighting them and stealing their nests. They eat food intended for pigeons and chickens. The sparrows cause great losses every year by eating garden truck and fruits."

Since it is against the law to burn trees infested with sparrows, or to set out poison, Minter says that about the only way to get rid of the birds is to set traps for them.

Here's a little mystery that some local Sherlock might solve. Why is it that Santa Ana is more or less free of English sparrows? In some cities, the pests are so numerous that the municipal authorities are forced to make regular campaigns against them.

Some will suggest that possibly the absence of quantities of grain here has something to do with it. But that argument hardly holds water when it is considered that the pests like fruit, and Santa Ana certainly is not deficient when it comes to various kinds of fruits.

Cat is Enemy
Here's a suggestion that appears to be logical. Santa Ana has an abundance of cats, and since cats like birds and birds don't like cats, it may be that this is the real reason why the English sparrow has not been elsewhere.

The English sparrow was brought to the United States about 75 years ago, along with other European birds, for the purpose of populating eastern parks with birds. Those responsible for the sparrows' importation knew little of the birds' nature, or they probably would never have allowed them to be imported. In the short period since his introduction, the sparrow has spread all over the United States and Canada.

So, if you like toothsome dishes, cook a few sparrows. If you have a good appetite, you are advised to cook several hundred of the birds. Next to a trap that works, an inexhaustible supply of patience is essential.

SCHOOL MARMS BRINGING BACK FRENCH STYLES

NEW YORK, July 27.—The "school marm" with her prim, behind-the-fashions dresses has become ultra-modernized as result of an unprecedented rush of school teachers to Europe this summer, according to local steamship companies.

The number of tourists going to Europe this summer is the greatest in history, all lines agree, and more women than men are making the trip.

Among the latter, it was said, are hundreds of women teachers from towns and "main street" villages of all parts of the country.

These teachers, making the trip in two's and three's are visiting France—the land of rouge and fashions—and are returning with painted lips and cheeks and new ideas on how to wear their clothes. Some even are smoking cigarettes and a few, it is claimed, have learned the taste of champagne for the first time.

As a result, the "modernization" of the school teacher rapidly is becoming a fact.

The outstanding reason for the unprecedented rush to Europe this year, it was said, is the new tourist cabin rate of about $160 for a round trip ticket.

More than 35,000 will travel in this class, during the summer, it is estimated.

For the first time in history, hundreds of students and residents from the far west are visiting Europe.

Steamship companies reported that everybody soon learns the shipboard fashions of sport clothes during the day and dress clothes for dinner and that many many war brides are being deserted or shipped back to their native land by their husbands, officials here lay the cause to national and cultural differences.

"We didn't like to see international marriages at the time," said one officer today, "because most of them were between representatives of such widely separated classes."

The official explained that in many cases American soldiers from homes of luxury in this country married a French girl of the poorer classes, brought her home, and, after the pink glow of romance had worn off, realized that the gap in their social stations could not be bridged.

Often the family of the husband aggravated his growing discontent, it was pointed out by the war department chief.

The popularity of ocean voyages, according to steamship line officials, is the direct result of the war. More than 2,000,000 doughboys who were in France, it was pointed out, came back with such interesting stories that the desire to travel became widespread.

For those who desire to see the world, there are seven around-the-world cruises, the greatest number in history. Seventeen special cruises to the West Indies are scheduled, also an unprecedented number.

The popularity of ocean voyages, according to steamship line officials, is the direct result of the war. More than 2,000,000 doughboys who were in France, it was pointed out, came back with such interesting stories that the desire to travel became widespread.

That is the opinion of Capt. John Englund, master of the Munson-McCormick steamer, Sidney M. Hauptman.

Englund's wife and young son were with him on his present trip to this coast. "The kid is a good sailor," he declared while here in port. "He gets out on deck with his scooter when the ship's rolling, and has a fine time."

German Authors Rebel Against Radio Companies

BERLIN, July 27.—An authors' rebellion has broken out here against the broadcasting companies for literary gems circulated through the ether. The revolt is headed by Germany's most famous playwright, Gerhart Hauptmann, and his distinguished Viennese colleague, Hugo von Hofmannsthal.

Both writers have obtained judgments against several companies for violating copyrights. Counsel's plea that broadcasting "does not come within the 'public display' under the copyright act" was rejected by the court. It was pointed out by the plaintiffs' representatives that the company levied monthly fees and must reimburse the authors.

Naturally, the decision has caused great joy amongst the lesser lights of the literary profession, who are looking forward to a substantial addition to their revenue. Moreover, steps have been taken to protect radio rights on an international scale. The Societe des Auteurs et Compositeurs dramatiques de France in Paris as well as the affiliated Spanish organization have been approached by their German colleagues. An international conference is planned for the autumn, in Madrid, where particulars of the proposed alliance will be discussed.

War Brides Are Being Deserted By Army Hubbies

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The war department never did approve the marriages of A. E. F. soldiers to French girls, and now that complaints are coming from Paris that many war brides are being deserted or shipped back to their native land by their husbands, officials here lay the cause to national and cultural differences.

"We didn't like to see international marriages at the time," said one officer today, "because most of them were between representatives of such widely separated classes."

The official explained that in many cases American soldiers from homes of luxury in this country married a French girl of the poorer classes, brought her home, and, after the pink glow of romance had worn off, realized that the gap in their social stations could not be bridged.

Often the family of the husband aggravated his growing discontent, it was pointed out by the war department chief.

Irishman Sleeps In 2 Countries

LONDON, July 27.—Ireland has a man who sleeps in two countries at the same time.

When he goes to bed he has his head in the Free State and his feet in Ulster. Sometimes just for the change of it, he turns his head around and sleeps with his feet in the Free State and his head in Ulster.

When tax collectors come around he defies them to prove in which country he lives.

He was discovered by investigators for the Irish boundary commission, which has been taking evidence for several months. His house is on the border line.

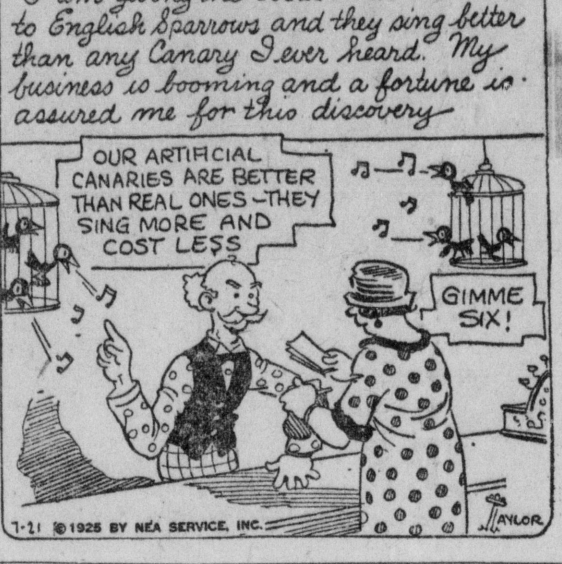

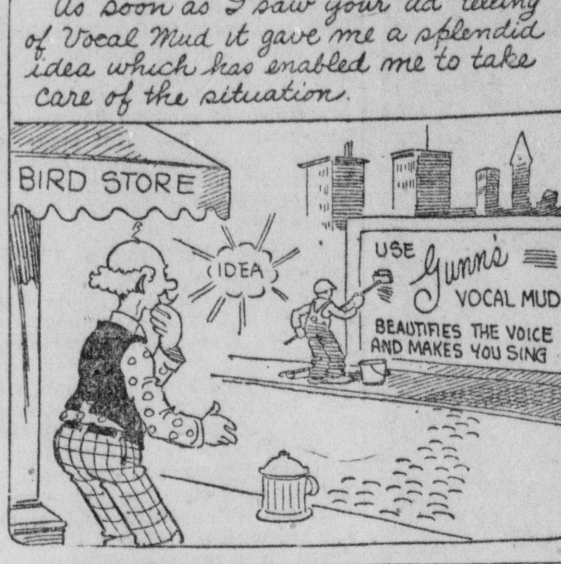

Tried by 2 Juries At Same Time

AUBURN, Calif., July 27.—While the jury in superior court here deliberated over the guilt or innocence of John McClosky, of Colfax, on a charge of carrying firearms, another jury heard evidence against him on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of narcotics. McClosky was found guilty on both counts.

EVENING SALUTATION

He who comforts, administers consolation to a man who is down in the world, who is on his beam-ends, who has no shot in the locker, who has nothing to fall back upon, with mere words, does nothing worth mentioning; but a true friend is he who in circumstances of difficulty comes to the rescue, purse in hand, with open hand and open heart.—Plautus.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

The death of William Jennings Bryan removes from the public life of America one of its most striking and remarkable figures. A review of this man's life is a romance in American affairs. It is without a parallel.

Aside from Bryan's wonderful ability as an orator, what was it that has kept him in the foreground in American life for nearly a third of a century? What was it that marshalled back of him millions of Americans? It was not his oratory alone, for there have been other great orators who were unable to bring to themselves a following such as he had.

It was his integrity, his common honesty, his deep sincerity. These were the characteristics that made him famous. United with these was his ability to translate his convictions into common language, such as every person could understand.

He had a world of sympathy in his heart. He was in truth a great commoner. His viewpoint, in politics, was the viewpoint of the common people.

REVISE BUILDING ORDINANCES

As a result of Santa Barbara's earthquake, a number of California cities are revising their building ordinances. It is urged that surveys be made of buildings already constructed with a view to what can be done to make poorly built buildings safe against earthquakes.

San Francisco, which city ought not need the experiences of any other city to keep it alive to proper construction, has started a revision of its code. The San Francisco Chronicle has this:

A resolution calling for a conference of architects, engineers and builders to revise San Francisco's building code to abolish any danger from earthquake has been adopted by the Board of Supervisors.

It was left to Supervisor McLeran to call the conference. He has gone East. There is a disposition to do nothing until he comes back.

The matter is too important to leave suspended in the air. It must not be put off until the people have forgotten the experiences of Santa Barbara and lapse into indifference. Where our regulations require it, the code should be stiffened to meet all possible conditions. Houses can be built that are earthquake proof. Damage is done only when construction is allowed to follow faulty design or when poor materials are permitted to go into the building.

More than anything, there is need of thorough inspection of building operations. The city employs but a few inspectors. Only when the owners of the buildings themselves desire safe construction in every detail is there competent inspection.

Whatever changes are necessary to give us the best practical building ordinances should be made immediately. The Supervisors must not sleep on this job.

FREEDOM IN AFRICA

Marshal Petain, who saved Verdun from the Germans, has flown to Morocco in a swift airplane to save Fez from the Rifis. Other military leaders have failed.

More troops, the best that France has, are now pouring into Africa. Big appropriations are voted by the French Parliament, unwillingly, for the emergency. The upstart Rifis must be beaten, at all costs. The original purpose of this war on the French side was to enlarge their African territory and security at the natives' expense. It has turned rapidly into an effort to save French prestige at whatever cost.

All of this, as Americans can see perhaps more easily than Europeans, is folly. And all of it is absurdly inconsistent with the principles on which "allied and associated powers" fought and won the World War.

That was "a war to end war" and a war "to save the world for democracy." Its potent slogan was the "self-determination of peoples." And poor France, the highest exemplar of defensive democracy during that big war, has now let herself get into a situation where she is obliged to use all her resources to crush democracy and keep a small and brave African nation—descendants of the old Moors who built the Alhambra and whose history was written so eloquently by Washington Irving—from determining their own fate and ruling their own land after they have won their independence from Spain.

So soon are great principles forsaken and great lessons forgotten.

Yet the situation is redeemed, in a way, by the Rifis themselves. By the very punishment they are meting out to a big power forgetful of democracy, they are enforcing the lesson of the World War. A mere handful of "tribesmen," unrecognized while the big war was on, have taken up the fight for freedom where the Allies laid it down.

UNTYING CHINA'S HANDS

America has always been friendly to China, its biggest neighbor to the west. America, possibly, has understood the slowly clarifying aspirations of the Chinese people better than Europe.

America took the lead, three years ago last winter, in championing the cause of China at the Washington conference, and obtained the celebrated nineteen-power treaty just now made effective by the tardy ratification of France. America continues to champion the legitimate claims of China, through the voice of the President and Secretary of State, who are arranging another conference to deal specifically with Chinese problems.

That conference will have plenty to do, and will need all the persuasiveness of the American spokesmen if anything really practical and just is to emerge, for China or for the other nations.

The last Washington conference formally declared that it recognized China's "sovereignty, independence, territorial integrity, administrative integrity, fullest and most unembarrassed opportunity to develop and maintain a stable government," and various other Chinese claims which would be regarded as a matter of course in any other country. Yet China is still exploited and bulldozed by foreign governments and captains of industry. China still sees her seaports held by foreign powers and is still unable to impose her own duties on her own imports, to raise money to police herself and maintain the order the foreign powers demand.

It is unlikely that China can adequately protect foreign rights in that country until the other powers untie China's hands by practical recognition of her domestic rights. That should be the first aim of the new conference.

Easy to Have Flower Streets

San Bernardino Sun.

Over in Riverside the residents of Victoria avenue have set out 2266 Ragged Robin bushes along the bridge path of that famous thoroughfare and it is planned to eventually line the entire avenue, a distance of four or five miles, with the flaming rose.

Apparently it is possible to organize the majority of property owners for a program of uniform planting. In San Bernardino it has been suggested on occasions that one of the north and south streets be planted with some flower of brilliant hue, but no actual move has ever been made.

What is needed is leadership for organization. Someone must give a large amount of energy and time to organize property owners. Yet the task would not be difficult. It would be better to provide for wholesale planting under one direction than to trust to planting by the individual. Therefore all that is needed is agreement as to the particular flower, a moderate fund and pledge of property owners to water the plants.

But there should be more than one street. Competition would force such a wave of beautification of streets that no leading thoroughfare could afford to be without its distinctive flower. Such has been the experience with ornamental street lights and flowers would make San Bernardino even more famous than lights.

The 2266 Ragged Robin rose bushes were planted on Victoria avenue at a cost of $390, indicating that no large amount of money is necessary to plant an entire street.

If the chamber of commerce desires to make the year 1925 one of real accomplishment it could detail one of its able secretaries to the work of organizing property owners on the various leading residential streets. On any of these streets it would be possible to raise $500, if that much is required, to buy and plant the selected flower. Each street should have its own improvement association with its officers to direct the work, and it is a certainty that the moment that E or D or Arrowhead avenue, or Base Line set out two miles of flower plants, many other streets would join in the race for the creation of the most beautiful thoroughfare.

Leadership, organization and a moderate fund! How quickly available they are if someone will only start!

Women In Gainful Work

Long Beach Press-Telegram.

Women constitute a very important factor in the economic life of the Nation. The total number of American women engaged in gainful pursuits is given as $500,000 in an authoritative statement made by the Women's Department of Labor. Forty per cent of these women at work are under twenty-five years old. Two-fifths of this huge number of women are between twenty-five and forty-four years old. The younger women are engaged, for the most part, in clerical or stenographic work, or in factories. The greater number of those who are more than twenty-five years old are employed in domestic or personal service positions. Two million married women are working in gainful occupations.

These figures denote a phase of economic development that is new—that was not known a generation ago, or even a few years ago. The World War drew large numbers of women into industrial pursuits. With the close of the war, many women, having sampled work, relished it and decided to stay with it. Since 1917 the number of women in gainful pursuits in this country has increased prodigiously. There will be no great recession from this, from present indications.

Women are resolved to be independent. They have won the ballot. They have won their place in the economic life of the Nation. They doubtless will hold fast to what they have won, and will press forward to even larger achievements in business, in the professions and in industrial settings various and sundry. It is the age of women, and the daughters of America are rising with vigor and progressiveness to the wonderful possibilities which the age opens to them.

The Right to Work

The Congregationalist.

It is the duty of our officers of government, from the President down, to see that the just liberties of men are maintained. When the laborer, be he union or non-union, cannot give the service he is willing to give without fear of being beaten up, there is a manifest failure of government to function rightly. The law and Constitution exist to guarantee to men—regardless of race, creed, color or affiliation—their liberties and privileges as citizens of the commonwealth. We have joined in the outcry against lawless acts of capital, and we have urged the duty of government in that regard. We deplore with equal sincerity the lawless acts of workers, and we think that Federal and State governments should act without fear or favor in protecting to the full the common toiler, regardless of his membership or non-membership in a labor union.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

GET PLENTY OF FRESH AIR

Every one who is able to walk at all, should take a walk every day. Open air walks increase one's life expectancy. Get out into the pure fresh air; it will revive the body and spirit.

A person breathes in one-seventh more oxygen out of doors than indoors.

Every organ of the body is represented by nerves on the surface.

So cold air and water baths stimulate every organ of the body to activity.

One's skin is one's keyboard. Cold air has a vitalizing effect. It lifts one, arouses one to activity. It awakens, vitalizes, vivifies.

Homes should be provided with sleeping porches. The added cost they give to the construction of a house is paid back tenfold by increased health and vigor.

Closed doors and windows are not so common during summer. But during the winter, many sleep in almost air-tight rooms.

Yet cold air is the great blessing of the human race.

One would reach the heights of health, he must travel through life via the Fresh Air Trail.

To the Rescue

Good Friends Afar

Long Beach Press-Telegram.

California owes a great debt of gratitude to friends, almost numberless, in distant places, throughout the United States, who are ready, on the instant, to defend this State against any flagrant misrepresentation or malicious detraction. It is exceedingly fortunate for California that there are so many intelligent, influential, broad-minded men and women living in divers places in all the States of the Union who, at some time—or perhaps several times—have visited California and are conversant with conditions here. So, when they hear lurid tales or read exaggerated reports, alleging adverse conditions here, they are prompt to step into the breach and to deny these fabrications and to stand loyally by California.

This species of loyalty, coming from such source, is particularly gratifying. It has weight and influence. It is disinterested. It comes from those who have no ulterior motives and no self-aggrandizing aims. They are fair, and they will not stand by and permit a great state to be libeled in their presence without entering vigorous protest, just as a loyal friend will not permit one to be aspersed in one's absence without defending one against aspersion.

Toward these thousands of good and true friends, scattered about all over the land, California feels the warmest and most grateful appreciation. Their faith in this state is not misplaced. Their loyalty is not received and treated with indifference. It is prized highly. It is well, at times, for Californians to give expression to gratitude to these loyal, steadfast friends in other states.

Worth While Verse

TWILIGHT

When I was young the twilight seemed too long,
How often on the western window seat
I leaned my book against the musty pane
And spelled the last enchanting lines again.
And while my mother hummed an ancient song,
Or sighed a little and said: "The hour is sweet!"
When I, rebellious, clamored for the light.

But now I love the soft approach of night,
And now with folded hands I sit and dream
While all too fleet the hours of twilight seem;
And thus I know that I am growing old.

O granaries of Age! O manifold
And royal harvest of the common years!
There are in all thy treasure house no ways
But lead by soft descent and gradual slope
To memories more exquisite than hope.
Thine is the Iris born of olden tears,
And thrice more happy are the happy days
That live divinely in the lingering rays.

—Mary F. Robinson, in the Kansas City Star.

Little Benny's Note Book

By Lee Pope

Mary Watkins don't speak to me on account of being mad at me for not saying that girls can do everything as good as boys, and this afternoon I had a dime and I was buying a ice cream cone with half of it at Wites drug store, and Puds Simpkins was there and I sed to him, if Mary Watkins didn't think she was so smart I'd be buying her one of these now insted of jest on for myself.

Well G wizz, holey smokes, I'll tell you a swell way to get revenge, Puds sed, and I sed how? and he sed, Well, jist buy 2 cones and go in frunt of her house and start to eat one of them and pretend you dont know who to give the other one to, and she'll stand there with her mouth watering, and then I'll say, Well I'll take if you dont know who to give it to, and then you hand it to me as if you was glad to get rid of it.

Sounding like a grate ideer, and I bawt 2 chocklit cones, chochlit being Mary Watkins most favorite kind, and she was standing on her frunt steps and me and Puds started to wawk past slow, me holding one cone and to Puds out loudgrainshrdn eating the other and Mary Watkins went bak in the house still with no ixpression, and I looked at Puds eating my other cone and I started to feel donbtfil, saying, All rite, she's gone now.

Being a hint I wunted the cone back, and Puds sed, Well, you wouidnt take this back after I bin eating all over the top of it, would you?

Certeny not, wats you think I am? I sed.
And I watched him finish it with a gesenation that the hole ideer was bum.

Ultimatums

In 1904 Ion Perdicaris, an American citizen living in Morocco, was kidnaped by the bandit chieftain, Raisul, and held for ransom. The Moroccan government was asked by the United States government to obtain the release of Perdicaris but without success until an ultimatum was cabled by Secretary of State Hay at the direction of President Roosevelt.

That ultimatum, "Perdicaris alive or Raisul dead," belongs to the handful of phrases in American history which will never be dropped from standard dictionaries of quotations.

A few of these immortal sayings stick in the minds of every school boy and girl and every citizen. Those most frequently quoted are:

Patrick Henry: "Give me liberty or give me death."
John Paul Jones: "I have not begun to fight."

James Lawrence: "Don't give up the ship."

Charles Cotesworth Pinckney: "Millions for defense but not a cent for tribute."

Admiral Farragut: "Damn the torpedoes; go ahead."

General Grant: "We will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."—San Jose Mercury.

Inheritance Tax Amendments

Written for the Register by Ralph W. Smith, former Inheritance Tax Attorney for California.

At 12 o'clock Friday night the amendments to the California Inheritance Tax Act adopted by the last Legislature become effective. These new laws are of considerable importance to the people of the State of California, and together with their implications should be carefully noted by those charged with responsibility for administration of estates. Although the amendments were written into our law with the idea of popularizing them, insofar as non-residents were concerned, by making California a more favorable investment and residential state from an inheritance tax standpoint, yet it is not certain that the zealousness of the Legislature did not result in the enactment of a faulty amendment.

California does not subject to inheritance tax bank accounts, mortgages, bonds, foreign stock certificates or any other item of intangible property, except domestic corporate stock, upon the death of a non-resident decedent.

Recognizing the evil of the multiple death tax situation, and well knowing that the non-resident owner of California corporate stock would have an inheritance tax to pay on such stock to the state of his domicile, the California Legislature, endeavoring to relieve the death tax burden on such California investment, adopted a flat rate tax on California corporate stock of non-resident decedents in place of the graduated tax now in force. This law is patterned after the New Hampshire law, and the amendment provides that hereafter no share of stock in a corporation domiciliated in California, listed in an estate of a non-resident decedent, can be taxed more than 2 per cent of its fair market value at time of death. Therefore, hereafter contemplated non-resident investors should have no hesitancy in purchasing California securities. In the event they purchase bonds issued by California corporations, upon their death no inheritance tax is chargeable by this state on such bonds, and certificates of stock in California corporations can not be taxed at a higher rate than 2 per cent of their market value.

Let us compare this to the maximum rates to which the stocks of the corporations domiciliated in other states might be subjected. In Indiana, 20 per cent; in Arkansas the high rate is 40 per cent; Illinois, 30 per cent; Massachusetts, 12 per cent; Michigan, 25 per cent; Minnesota, 20 per cent; Missouri, 30 per cent; Texas, 20 per cent; Washington, 40 per cent; Wisconsin, 40 per cent.

The 2 per cent flat rate tax applies only to non-residents. Should the same stock be owned by a resident of California, if it passes to direct heirs, it might be taxed at the maximum rate of 12 per cent. If bequeathed to a remote relative or stranger, it might be taxed at the maximum rate of 20 per cent. The discrimination against residents of California is therefore apparent. The right of the state to tax the privilege of succession is well settled, but grave doubt exists as to the validity of a law which imposes a greater charge for the privilege when the person disposing of his property is a resident than when a non-resident, in view of the provision of the Federal Constitution requiring states to extend to non-residents the same privileges and immunities enjoyed by residents.

The following is illustrative of the discrimination. Take a $20,000 net estate consisting of California corporate stock bequeathed to a minor son or daughter. If the owner at death be a non-resident, the California Inheritance Tax would be $400; if decedent was a resident there would be no tax. Under the same conditions on an estate of $100,000 a non-resident would have a tax to pay of $2,000, while a resident minor child would be taxed $2,510. Under like conditions, take an estate of $1,000,000. A non-resident minor would have a tax of but $20,000, but if the property was owned by California resident and bequeathed as above, the tax would be $99,510.

It is apparent, therefore, that the new amendment offers a premium for the California owner of domestic stock to change his residence to some other state.

The last Legislature also wrote into the Inheritance Tax Act a most salutary provision, fathered by Senator Harry Chamberlain, effective July 25, 1925, which provides that, for inheritance tax purposes, personal property, wherever acquired, if acquired under conditions which would make such property community property in California, and thereafter such property be brought to California, the owner accepting this state as his domicile, upon the death of a husband the wife shall receive a community exemption equal to one-half of all said property, and also a personal exemption of $24,000.

Under this law, should the property have been acquired under community conditions—say in the State of Florida—which has no inheritance tax, and brought to California, it being presumed that the Federal government will also recognize this law, there would be a saving in death taxes of $16,953.50 by reason of the change from Florida to California.

Should the parties under the same conditions move from the State of Illinois to California, the husband dying and the widow surviving, there would be a saving in death taxes of $126,152.50. The value of our community system of property is, therefore, apparent from an inheritance tax standpoint, by placing California in a most favorable position from a death duty standpoint.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 1—THE COOK'S LOST BUTTONS

The Twins were having tea with the Fairy Queen when suddenly, just as Nancy was helping her self to more honey, there was a loud report like a shotgun.

"Dear, dear!" sighed the Fairy Queen. "Puff has lost another button. That's six this week. He keeps blaming it on the washing-machine and the wringer, but I know it is because he is getting too fat that they fly off."

"Who is Puff?" asked Nick.
"My Cook," answered the Fairy Queen. "We call him Puff for two reasons. First, because he makes such a delicious puff paste, and second because he is so puffy himself."

At that minute Puff appeared in the doorway—a large spoon in his hand and a large white cap on his head—also a large white coat almost covering him up, but not quite, as all of the buttons were missing down the front.

"Boo, hoo, hoo!" he cried. It got away before I could catch it. Went right out of the window and over the hill, so it did."

"What!" cried the queen. "What flew away?"

"The button," sniffed Puff. "It was my last button, too. The pepper made me sneeze and off it flew."

"Never mind, don't cry," said his mistress soothingly. "It's high time we were getting those buttons back anyway. Buttons are so hard to match nowadays and I'm sure that I never, never, never shall be able to get more like them. Just let me think a minute. I have it! How would you Twins like to hunt for the missing buttons?"

"Hurrah," shouted Nick. "We'll go, won't we, Nancy?"

"Sure," nodded Nancy, her mouth full of honey.

"Then it's settled," said the Fairy Queen. "How lucky it is that you were here when this happened! But it may be a long hunt. You may have to search through everyone of my nine-hundred and ninety-nine kingdoms."

Then turning to Puff she said, "You must not get any fatter. Now go and send Juggle Jump to me."

Puff bowed, laying his large spoon over his shoulder, like a sword, and trying to hold his coat together at the same time. "It's as good as done, Your Highness," he said and disappeared.

"Who is Juggle Jump?" asked Nancy curiously.

"My general factotum," said the Fairy Queen.

"General Who?" cried the Twins. The Fairy Queen laughed.

"Don't you know what a general factotum is?" she asked merrily. "Is it anything like a totem pole?" asked Nick.

"Not exactly," said their hostess. "A general factotum is a person who can do almost anything. But here is Juggle Jump now. You may see for yourselves."

At that minute a most surprising person appeared in the doorway that Puff had just left. If the cook lacked buttons, the newcomer seemed to have all the buttons in the world on him. Nancy said to herself, "Richman, poorman, beggerman, thief, doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief! What can all those buttons be for?"
